Jackie O, No! Kennedy Clan Blasts Her Live-In Romance

Jackie Onassis is suddenly flaunting her live-in romance with diamond mogul Maurice Tempelsman — infuriating the Kennedy clan and her own children.

Not only are Jackie and her beau virtually living together at her swank Fifth Avenue apartment and Martha's Vineyard mansion, say insiders — but she is no longer trying to hide the fact that they're lovers.

And that's driving the Kennedys wild!

Kennedy sisters Eunice and Ethel staged a screaming fight with Jackie over her public romance with a married man.

Even Ted Kennedy — who's always had a soft spot for JFK's widow — is angry because he fears Jackie's behavior will hurt his Presidential campaign.

And Caroline and John Jr. are flatly refusing to visit their mother whenever she's with Tempelsman.

Said a close friend of the Kennedys: "The sisters have never really liked Jackie. They've only tolerated her because of John Jr. and Caroline, who are considered to be Kennedys."

"But now, with Jackie's open flaunting of her affair with a married man, the sisters and even Ted are furious. They've had angry words with Jackie about the whole thing."

Agreed another Kennedy insider: "Eunice and Ethel are furious with Jackie. They had a screaming argument with her over Tempelsman. Even Ted, who normally defends Jackie, is angry. He's afraid the scandal will hurt him in his election bid for the Presidency."

"He was counting on the Jackie mystique to help him."

But as one close friend of Jackie put it, she's tired of playing the aging "virgin queen of Camelot."

Said the friend: "She's through trying to please the Kennedys. She never can please the sisters — and Ted will always be running for something and be worried about his image.

"The hypocrisy of it all finally got to her. She's a woman — and she needs men. Maurice is intelligent and fun to be with. He suits her, and she doesn't care who knows it."

Said another friend of

Jackie: "Suddenly it hit her — she's 53 years old, and she's hiding away from the public like a teenager who will be spanked if her family finds out she's going out with a boy they don't approve of."

"Jackie just decided, 'The hell with it.'"

Said a friend of Tempelsman: "Maurice was tired of the charade — he didn't want to be passed off as just a 'friend' anymore. His marriage has been a sham for years. His wife, Rena, is a nice woman. But she hasn't been part of his day-to-day life for a long time."

"It's a marriage in name only."

This summer, Jackie and Tempelsman have started appearing in public holding hands. At Martha's Vineyard they made no attempt to hide the fact that they were living together at her house. They strolled through town hand in hand, and did not mind being photographed together. And in Manhattan, he's been seen leaving Jackie's apartment after dark, sources say.

The open flaunting of her romance has upset John Jr. and Caroline, said a Kennedy family friend.

"The children are both siding against their mother in her feud with the Kennedys over Tempelsman. Neither will visit Jackie at her Martha's Vineyard love nest when he's there. And neither particularly likes him."

"Jackie's 'I'll do what I want' attitude is driving a wedge between her and her children."

Safe, Simple Way to Kill Toothache Pain

Clove oil, available without prescription at any drugstore, is a safe and effective home remedy for persistent tooth pain, says a U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) panel.

The substance — which has been used as a toothache treatment for 2,000 years — eliminates pain within 10 minutes and keeps it away for days.

"We should all keep clove oil around the house for when we have toothaches," said Dr. Louis Gangarosa, head of the FDA panel and a professor of oral biology at the Medical College of Georgia.

By WILLIAM NEWCOTT

"It is a safe and effective common remedy for toothaches. A high percentage of people find immediate relief with it."

Clove oil should be applied with cotton directly onto the cavity — without touching the tongue or gum, since it is a mild irritant. It should be used only when pain is "persistent and throbbing," said the panel.

And if the pain goes away, you should still see a dentist as soon as possible.

"It eliminates pain almost immediately," said Dr. Joseph Aleo, a panel member and an associate dean at the Temple University School of Dentistry.

Ironically, the panel said,

"Many dentists oppose the use of nonprescription toothache products" such as clove oil.

But, Dr. Aleo pointed out, "What do you do in the middle of the night when you have a toothache?"

"I've used clove oil in my practice."

Another nonprescription substance, Benzocaine, also fights tooth pain, but the FDA feels more testing is necessary before it can be recommended.

'We Are Space Aliens'

... Couple Reveal Under Hypnosis — And Stress Tests Confirm It

An Arizona couple say they're really space aliens who were beamed to Earth years ago.

Michael El-Legion and his wife Aurora insist they came to this planet on a vital mission: to help mankind enter a new age of peace and harmony.

And incredibly, hypnosis and voice stress tests show they're telling the absolute truth!

"I've always known I was not of this Earth," said Michael. "I have memories of being aboard a spaceship, preparing for my departure to Earth."

Michael revealed there are thousands of extraterrestrials just like himself and Aurora in this world.

"We're the product of a type of 'artificial insemination' that is commonly used by people from my planet to put my people on Earth," he said. "One moment we are on a starship out in space ... the next moment we're on Earth."

"Just seconds before a baby is born on this planet, our minds, souls and memories are beamed into the infant. We take over the baby just before it enters the world."

In a hypnosis session conducted by hypnotist George Cogan, Michael told about life on his planet, Orion, located billions of miles away in the star constellation Orion.

"It's a beautiful place of crystal cities and rainbow sunsets. My people are very similar to Earth people, but a bit taller. There is no disease and there hasn't been a war for centuries.

"I remember being on the spaceship, and my mother and father telling me it was time to leave."

His future Earth wife, Aurora, was on the ship with him, he said.

"I didn't want to leave her. I sobbed, 'Why must we part?' Then we were both born on Earth, and we grew up in separate families."

"But suddenly last April, when she was 34 years old and I was 29, we met again and were reunited. She walked into a room and I recognized her immediately."

Aurora, who was hypnotized by Cogan separately, added, "I met Michael in Phoenix because I was told by my parents from our other world to come here."

Said Michael: "I learned my true purpose a few months ago when a man bathed in a golden aura walked up to me. He said we are here to pave the way for the arrival of other friendly beings from our planet. My mission, and Aurora's, is to let Earth's people know that these people are coming so they won't be shocked."

"We want Earthmen to know that our fellow aliens are on a mission of peace. They realize Earth is on a course of self-destruction, and want to save it."

Hypnotist Cogan, director of the Hypnosis Center of the Southwest in Scottsdale, said there is no chance the El-Legions were deceiving him during their period of deep hypnosis.

The tapes of the sessions were analyzed by a voice stress expert, C.R. McQuiston, who used a Psychological Stress Evaluator truth-detecting device.

"I found no trace of deception," he declared. "I've run every test I could possibly run."

"I think we'd better start looking up in the sky!"

Di's Poor Baby!

Ancestors Named William Were a Cruel, Vicious Bunch

Princess Diana's new baby will someday reign as King William V — a name that has a black past in history!

Other Williams in the young Prince's family tree have been cruel, vicious, boorish brutes.

In fact, his ancestor William II (1056-1100) was such a terrible monarch that nobody else took his name again for 650 years!

The most recent skeleton in little William's closet was King William IV (1765-1837), who had 10 children by a mistress before he became king.

Not much finer a model for today's young Prince was England's William III (1650-1702), known as William of Orange, a sickly man who also led a notorious love life.

A Dutchman, William was crowned king of England in 1689 after the "Glorious Revolution." William was unpopular in England because of his boorish manners and open preference for Dutch countrymen. Assassination plots were continuously hatched.

But among all these kings, the infamous William II stands out as the most bi-

Flight to Terror

A Shocking Eyewitness Account of Horror in the Sky as Bomb Rocks Jet

"Oh my God, we're going to die!"

The words screamed through Eva Zimmerman's fear-filled brain as a thunderous explosion rocked the huge jumbo jet.

Eva, 38, was the chief flight attendant aboard Pan American Flight 830, en route from Tokyo to Honolulu on August 11 with 267 passengers aboard, when a bomb went off, leaving a 16-year-old boy dead and 14 people injured.

"I ran down the aisle," Eva recalled. "People were screaming and hysterical."

"I thought of my children and beloved husband, and how desperately I wanted to be with them and hold them, and strangely, to be with them when I was old."

"I want to live. Please, God, let me live," I prayed. "Let my husband hold me in his arms again..."

"Then a cold, trancelike feeling of knowing what to do took over and for a while I wiped out any thoughts of myself. I turned to the screams and blood and horror around me."

"There was blood splattered everywhere. People were sobbing and screaming. I heard one man praying aloud, over and over."

"A group of Japanese women nearby were in hysterics, moaning and screaming."

"There was blood splashed around like in a butcher shop."

"The oxygen masks were hanging down, the debris was all around. But I felt icy cold, coolheaded, not in a panic. I went to the boy to help him and started moving the people out of the cabin. All my emergency training came back to me.

"A doctor came and told me: 'Leave the boy alone. There is nothing to do.' We placed the body in the aisle."

"I had been uneasy all the previous day and I didn't know why. I was uncomfortable and didn't understand it. I made a special point to kiss my children an extra

I was so quiet. I told them I was tired and said: 'I'll smile as the passengers come aboard.' And I did, but it was a false smile.

"The flight went smoothly. I didn't notice the boy in seat 47-K for any particular reason. He was with two other young people, and his parents were sitting in the row behind."

"The flight was uneventful. Then it was 9:05 a.m. and we were beginning our descent into Honolulu. I had just breathed a small sigh of relief that nothing had happened when suddenly there was a blast — a loud bang that hit my eardrums, a cloud of smoke and a biting stench of fumes."

"When the explosion first hit, the eerie feeling came back to me like a dizzy nightmare. 'Oh my God, we're going to die!' I thought."

"The plane began to dive and again I was hit with the feeling that some horrible, eerie twist of fate was going to cause me and all these screaming, terrified people to plunge into the sea."

"We're out of control!" I thought in a moment of frozen terror. "My God, we're going to die in that cruel sea. My children will never see me again." But then I realized our dive was not out of control but just a steady descent, engineered by the pilot. And then I heard the captain's voice on the intercom — calm, under control.

"He told us we had dropped from 26,000 feet to 10,000 feet very quickly. He said the plane was under control and we were preparing to land."

"And when he brought us very smoothly and quickly down I thought: 'It's a test. God's testing us and has given us all another chance. We made it, we made it.'"

"But there was much to do, and sick and wounded, frightened people to take care of. I was scared but I was so busy I had to do my job and ignore the shock."

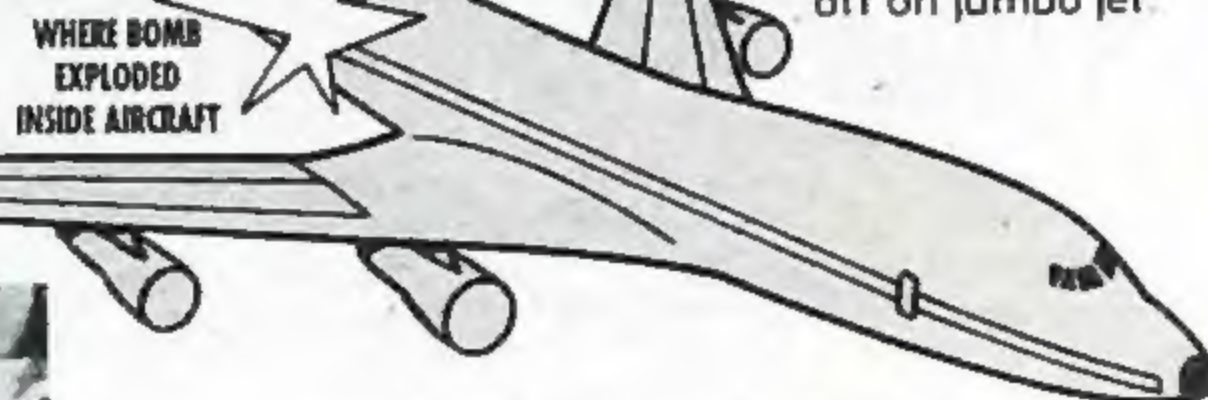

"That came the next morning I woke up wondering how close to death I had been and how near my children had been to having no mother. I was trembling."

"I remember I said a quick prayer during the screaming and terror of those first few minutes. And I know someone up there was looking after me."

Boy Who Dropped a Bombshell on His Parents: 'I'm No Longer the Son You Knew'

What do you do when your son drops this bombshell: "I'm having surgery to become a woman"?

When Bob Cossey's son decided to switch sexes, Cossey exploded. "Stop this nonsense!" he yelled. "Get a suit on and pull yourself together!"

But Barry Cossey went on with his plans to be surgically made into a woman — and became a gorgeous top British model, one of the beauties who surrounded James Bond in his movie "For Your Eyes Only."

"Things like that happened in other people's families — never in ours," said Doreen Cossey, remembering how stunned she was when her son Barry claimed he was actually a woman trapped inside the body of a man!

Barry had always been considered a sissy. His big brother Terry tried to toughen him up by playing football or boxing with him in the yard.

"I resented him because I couldn't fit into that way of life," the model recalls today.

But my sister Pam and I did everything together — girlish things. She'd share her dolls with me, or we'd borrow Mom's high heels and dress up."

As Barry grew older, he found himself attracted not to girls — but to heterosexual men. "And I only felt happy and comfortable dressed in feminine clothes."

Finally, as a teen, he left his hometown, Brooke, in southeastern England for London where a doctor began the sex-change procedure on him.

Changing his name to Tula, Barry dressed in women's clothes — and looked absolutely stunning.

His brother Terry broke the news to their parents. They were devastated. And that's when an angry Bob Cossey telephoned his son — and ordered the lad to straighten out. And a short while later, when the sex change was almost complete, Tula returned home to confront her parents. It was an evening they will never forget.

"I saw this beautiful, feminine girl," recalled Bob. "She said, 'Dad, look at me. I didn't want to be like this. But it's how I am.'"

"I was completely stunned for a few moments. It was an incredible shock suddenly seeing this strange woman — yet almost someone I knew — standing before me. The Barry I had bounced on my knee as a boy, whose grazes and bruises I had treated, whom I had cheered on at school sports days, was gone forever."

"It wasn't fair. I had wanted a boy — and now he had been taken away from me. I could not help wondering what my child looked like now under the woman's clothing. Could my son really have become female? My boy, a new daughter. It was a horrible situation."

Said Doreen, "He looked attractive enough as a woman — but not like Barry. I felt like screaming. 'Give me back my son — whoever you are. Just give him back!'"

"I felt unutterably sad. In a way it was almost as though Barry had died."

"I felt the tears in my eyes. My son was dead and somehow this person — another daughter I suppose — had been born in his place."

Recalled Bob, "I didn't want to accept it — but I had to. What could I do? You don't reject your children. You just love them and help them all you can."

From that day, both Tula's parents were behind her all the way. "Oddly, the most difficult thing was remembering not to call her 'Barry,'" said Doreen.

"You'd see the hurt look on her face when we slipped up."

For three years Tula kept her secret, rising to become a top model and even appear in the Bond movie. And then, the story got out as a London newspaper printed her shocking past. But Tula survived the scandal. And her family and neighbors rallied to support her.

"It's strange," says Doreen. "I can't think of Tula having once been a boy. I think of a son I once had, and the daughter I have now — who helps me with my make-up and tells me about her boyfriends."

Said Bob, "She's always had guts, our Tula. She's always weathered the storms. It's wonderful to see her now, so beautiful, so confident, so happy and so loving."

"A daughter to be proud of!"

Surveys Reveal... The Pill Hasn't Changed Women's View of Sex

The contraceptive Pill hasn't changed women's attitudes about sex, say experts.

Even though The Pill has wiped out the fear of unwanted pregnancies, women are still more interested in romantic involvement than promiscuous sex — despite what women's libbers predicted, says a psychologist.

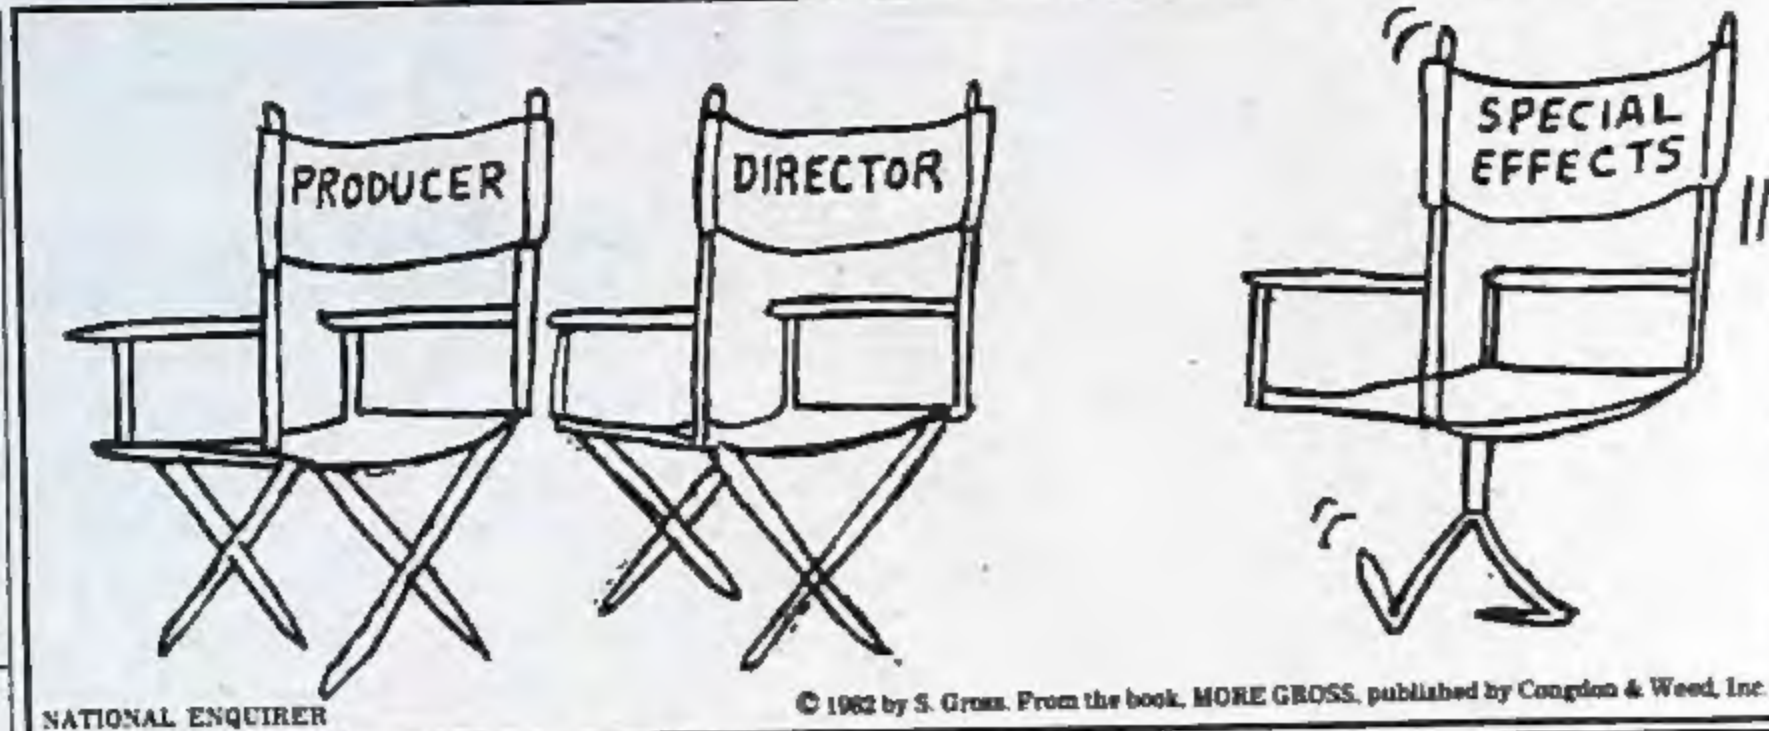

Dr. David Nias, who co-authored the book "The Mystery of Love," works at the Institute of Psychiatry at London's Maudsley Hospital. He explained:

"A number of surveys have been carried out over the years by opinion polls and newspapers.

"The most convincing was a recent survey in England, which showed that women's sexual fantasies are virtually identical to the fantasies they had 30 years ago when Kinsey made his report on sex in America."

These surveys revealed that men generally fantasize about imaginary women who they consider to be ideal sex partners.

"But the female fantasy is invariably about a specific person — usually someone she is closely involved with. "Women are deeply concerned with the romantic aspect of the fantasy, rather than the sexual act."

"Therefore, the argument that women would become more like men when liberated by The Pill is disproved by the findings of these surveys, especially in the area of their sexual fantasies.

"If a woman wished secretly to be like a man, then she could be in her fantasies — if not in real life."

Although the surveys cited by Dr. Nias were made in England, Dr. Harold Voth, M.D., a clinical professor of psychiatry at the University of Kansas, said:

"The findings of Dr. Nias are consistent with my own observations. British and American people aren't all that different because our cultures are very similar."

"I don't think that The Pill has altered the fundamental makeup of women at all. It hasn't changed their basic psychology, although it has certainly relieved them of the fear of unwanted pregnancy."

Fishing Boat Skipper Tells of... Our 50 Hours of Hell Adrift in Raging Seas

By ALLAN FARRINGTON

I watched in dumbstruck horror as a massive hole seemed to yawn open in the churning sea — and swallow our 100-foot fishing boat.

"My God!" I gasped, standing at my captain's position in the wheelhouse.

We raced headfirst into that canyon of water, like an out-of-control toboggan.

Boom! Still another wave pounded us. The wall of water burst through the massive wheelhouse windows.

Glass was flying everywhere. The roaring, thunderous wall of water tore the wheelhouse apart — sending me and my brother Doug flying like bowling pins. The fury was so great that shards of glass from the shattered wheelhouse windows were embedded in the walls!

I looked at Doug. His face was a mass of blood from the flying glass. He was screaming.

"I can't panic," I thought. "I'm in charge of a crew of 10. I've got to keep calm and do what's best for us to survive!"

It was the beginning of 50 hell-like hours adrift at sea.

The storm had blown up out of nowhere as we sailed on the open sea last October 5, returning with 180,000 pounds of cod to our home port in Vancouver, British Columbia. All night we were pounded by the 50-foot-high waves. The winds whipped up to 115 m.p.h.

After the massive wave ripped through the wheelhouse, the engine conked out. The boat was practically on its side. It seemed only a matter of minutes before we'd sink.

"We're sitting ducks," I thought. I called out to the men. "We're getting into the life raft."

We quickly put on our survival suits — fluorescent wet suits you zip up. Doug was so seriously injured by the glass we had to help him get his on.

We inflated the life raft, which was about 10 feet across, covered with a canvas top. Then what happened next sent a sickening feeling through my soul.

The raft was tipping over in the sea! All our emergency food, water and flares spilled right into the ocean!

the tiny raft. We drifted away from the ship. The wind was howling and 50-foot waves still pounded us.

Night fell. I had never known such terror. Twice that awful night the raft capsized, tumbling around and around in the waves, like a kid rolling down a hill. We prayed the canvas top, which held us in, wouldn't give way.

It was so dark inside that cramped hellhole we could not see who we were holding onto. We clutched at each other desperately.

We all tried to be as optimistic as possible — but let me tell you, with some of us getting sick right in the pool of water we sat in, the atmosphere inside the raft was unspeakable!

In a desperate attempt to save body heat, we took turns holding each other upside down by our heels so the water that had seeped into our suits could drain out through the neckline.

The following day things calmed down, although the wind was still howling. "I've never felt so helpless," I thought.

Hunger and thirst tore at our bodies. It was more than a day since we'd had food in our stomachs. Our guts were in knots.

"God, will I ever see my wife, son and daughter again?" I wondered. "All the others here have families, too. It's my duty to make sure we all get out alive."

The following day, when a search plane buzzed over us, we tried to yell and cheer like crazy, but we were so weak we could barely croak.

Miraculously, the plane saw us! The crew radioed a nearby ship, which came to our rescue.

On the way to port we passed our disabled ship and towed her to shore with us.

The greatest experience I'll ever know was seeing our families all lined up on the dock to greet us. Doug was in shock, and he still has scars on his face from the glass. I slept 16 hours that night. It felt like I was in heaven.

But fishing is still my life. And I can't wait until our boat is outfitted again, and I can get back onto the ocean with her!

What Gets Your Goat — And How to Cool Down

What upsets people? Who blows up the quickest? What's the best way to handle your anger?

Here are some of the most intriguing questions scientists have raised about anger — and their answers.

Q. What does the average person find most irritating?

A. An inconsiderate person annoys other people the most, according to the American Institute of Public Opinion. Also highly irritating are cheaters followed by rude children, high-pressure salesmen, show-offs, nonstop talkers, sneezers and coughers, tooth-pickers and nail-biters, gum-chewers — and grown women who talk baby talk.

Q. How do most of us react to such annoying characters?

A. We swallow our irritation nearly every time. A few people will blurt out their feelings, but only one person out of 100 will actually slug someone else, according to a study by a British psychologist.

Q. Can you annoy yourself?

A. Definitely. The trait people found most exasperating in themselves was having a bad temper, followed by being too easygoing. Next were impatience, extravagance, unnecessary worry, laziness and lack of self-confidence, studies show.

Q. Which people are most easily irritated?

A. Housewives, unskilled laborers and clerical workers reach their boiling point the quickest, according to a study by the late psychologist Prof. Hulsey Cason. Businessmen and skilled laborers were much less irritable, while students and farmers were even slower to anger. Least irritable of all were professional men and women.

But thin men, beware! You get angry more easily than fat men, while the exact opposite is true with women. Short men get exasperated more often than tall men, but a woman's height doesn't seem to affect her disposition at all, the study found.

Q. What do your pet peeves reveal about your personality?

A. The more gripes you have, the more likely you are to be high-strung, psychologists say. If you have a short list of gripes, you're probably a well-balanced personality. And studies sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation revealed that neurotic people are most annoyed by the situations that threaten their self-esteem, such as when someone forgets their name.

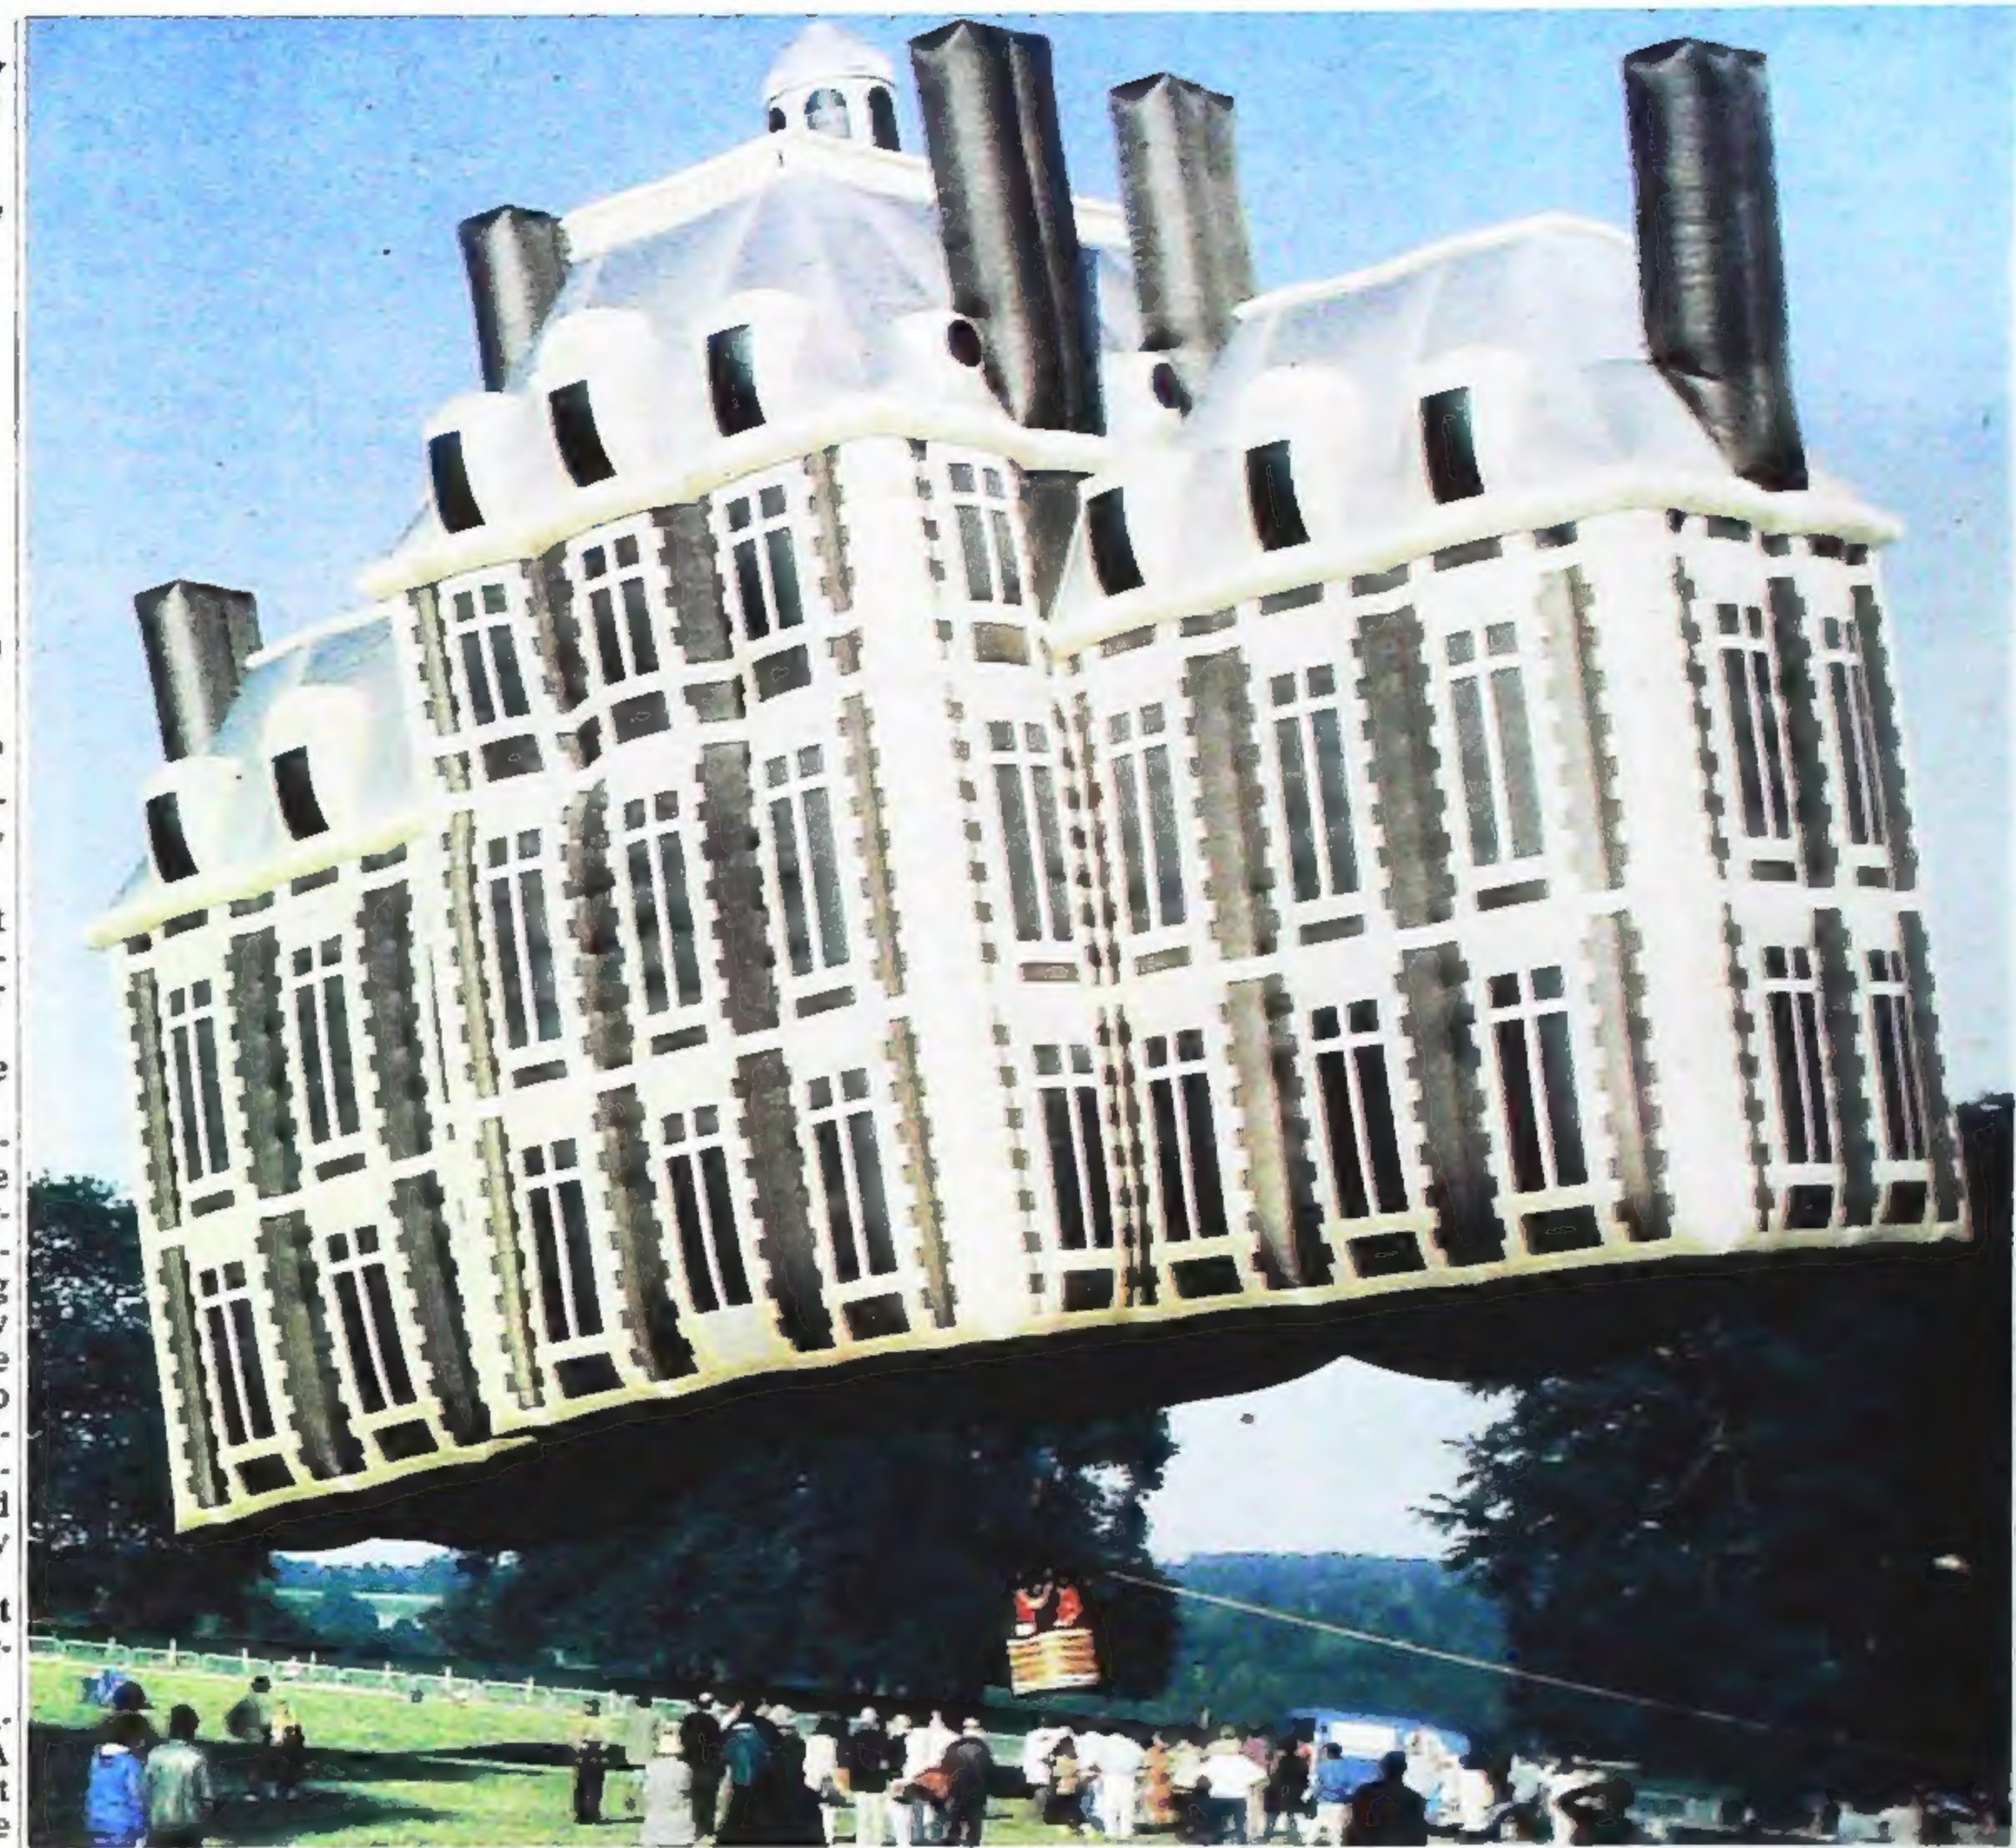

Q. What should you do when you feel yourself getting angry?

A. The worst thing you can do is bottle up your feelings, which is the main cause of ulcers and high blood pressure, scientists say.

So when someone bothers you, speak gently to him or her about the problem. If that doesn't work, tell a friend about your gripe as soon as possible.

Exercise also beats tension and helps you relax. If all else fails, allow yourself the luxury of telling the other person off.

A Dropout

The waiter in the posh restaurant was overly attentive to the young couple. "So romantic," he thought. "They're probably celebrating their anniversary."

He beamed happily as he served them course after course and made sure their champagne glasses were full. He was about to bring them dessert when, to his horror, he saw the man slide to the floor.

Hurrying over to her, he whispered, "Beg pardon, but your husband is under the table."

The woman, maintaining her composure, said, "I'm afraid he's not — because he just came through the door."

Ten DOs and DON'Ts To Break Bad Habits

By FRANKLIN R. RUEHL

You can break your bad habits by following 10 DOs and DON'Ts, says a psychiatrist.

"All of these are effective suggestions for vanquishing a bad habit, whether it be minor or major," said Dr. Isidore Ziferstein. "Of course, your determination to break a bad habit is a crucial factor."

Here are Dr. Ziferstein's DOs and DON'Ts:

DO...	DON'T...
... resolve to yourself that you ARE going to break the habit.	... keep postponing your attempt to eliminate the habit.
... give yourself ample time.	... set unrealistic time limits.
... set gradual targets for cutting down.	... give up if you find your progress slow.
... find harmless substitutes for your habit (such as a plastic cigarette if you're giving up smoking).	... develop another bad habit trying to fight the existing one (such as gambling instead of being extravagant).
... regularly picture yourself totally free of the habit.	... start compulsively watching yourself for the habit all the time.
... ask someone who has overcome a similar habit for any tips he can offer.	... use the "shotgun" approach, trying several tips at the same time.
... ask your spouse to remind you when you're about to lapse.	... make your spouse the scapegoat every time you slip up.
... treat yourself to a special reward when you've made significant strides.	... berate yourself or get down in the dumps if you are making slow progress.
... make an extra-special effort to break your habit for one day, to prove to yourself you really can.	... make exceptions to breaking your habit, such as a dieter who regularly allows himself dessert.
... be imaginative in breaking your habit, such as locking up your cigarettes.	... go to extremes, endangering your health, such as fasting too long or going on an unproven diet.

Dr. Ziferstein is a former associate clinical professor of psychiatry at UCLA, now in private practice in Los Angeles.

TV — BEHIND THE SCREENS

'Dallas' Star Furious After Her Ex-Beau Tattles on Talk Show

By JOHN COOKE and ALASTAIR GREGOR

Departed "Dukes of Hazzard" stars John Schneider and Tom Wopat set to ride together again — this time on the big screen. They'll co-star in a modern day western movie playing Butch Cassidy and Sundance Kid types. What's more, studio execs are keen on signing the pair to a multi-picture deal.

"Dallas" star Victoria Principal threatening to sue her ex-love Andy Gibb over his revelations about their affair on "Good Morning America." Andy told millions of TV viewers that their breakup caused him to have a nervous breakdown and got him hooked on cocaine.

Terrified former "Charlie's Angel" Jaclyn Smith was chased to her dressing room trailer by a horde of autograph-seeking construction workers while lensing her TV flick, "Rage of Angels," in Manhattan. One of the creeps even followed Jackie inside! She had to shove him out the door. Jackie was furious her bodyguard wasn't around — especially since her new baby was inside the trailer with a nurse.

Still radiant at 73, Greer Garson will costar as Joan "Alexis" Collins' mother on "Dynasty" this coming season. Greer had flatly refused all acting offers for 15 years until her old pal, producer Aaron Spelling, convinced her to appear in a recently filmed "Love Boat" episode. She loved working again so much she snapped up the $35,000-per-episode recurring role on "Dynasty," which is also produced by Spelling.

Lensing a boxing scene for his TV flick, "Fighting Chance," Greg Harrison, who plays Gonzo on "Trapper John, M.D.," got carried away and really socked his ring opponent, giving him a bloody nose. Shooting was halted while the guy got patched up.

Close call for Rock Hudson. An elephant on the set of his new fall series, "The Devlin Connection," almost crushed him. The pachyderm was supposed to corner Rock against a wall, then sit. But the elephant seemed to forget himself, and kept closing in on Rock, almost pinning him. Finally, Hudson shouted, "SIT!" and the beast obeyed. Everyone sighed with relief that they didn't end up with a flat Rock.

Shooting his TV movie, "Two of a Kind," at the Motion Picture Country Home, 86-year-old George Burns took time out to entertain the old-time actors who live there. He sang, told jokes and danced for more than a half-hour to the delight of the folks, including retired actress Mae Clarke and black comic Stepin Fetchit.

Johnny Carson's furious over a rumor buzzing around the jet set that he's had a face lift. Carson is denying that he had his wrinkles ironed.

Farrah Fawcett will play a major guest role on ex-hubby Lee Majors' series, "The Fall Guy." She made a cameo appearance last year and this time she'll play a movie star who is stalked by a killer. Lee, of course, dashes to the rescue.

Teen stars Todd Bridges and Jan-

It's crystal clear why stunning Lori Sutton was a top model of bathing suits — but now she's one of TV's top new beauties. She has already appeared on "The Fall Guy,"

"Quincy" and in the movie "Sizzle." And Lori will also play a sexy secretary in an upcoming "Love Boat" episode.

Looks like former "All in the Family" costar Sally Struthers is putting on the dog! In her new fall series, "Gloria," she still plays Archie Bunker's daughter, but now she works for a veterinarian. Between scenes, animal-loving Sally enjoys romping with her four-legged guest stars, like this pooch and kitten who'll be on the show.

Stunning Brooke Shields has been stepping out all over Tinseltown with handsome "Happy Days" co-star Ted "Roger" McGinley. They met at the circus recently and have dated repeatedly — including at a posh awards bash, where photogs snapped the beaming pair.

et Jackson — who play lovebirds on "Diff'rent Strokes" — had to cool their real-life steady dating because Janet's dad said she's too young to get serious and should date others. Todd's upset, but he's started dating other girls.

Donny Most, who played Ralph Malph on "Happy Days," staged a loud, ugly scene at a Rome restaurant after refusing to pay his $50 tab. Donny, with three pals, shouted that he's a star and doesn't pay anywhere. But waiters insisted and a brouhaha ensued. Cops were called, but the management let him go without paying before they arrived, fearing bad publicity.

Eight years after his last series flopped, Jimmy Stewart's taking the plunge back into TV. Jimmy will pocket a hefty $350,000 to star in the two-hour pilot for a series called "His Honor, Doc Potter." He plays a small-town doctor who doubles as mayor. If the show sells as a series, 74-year-old Jimmy will get $40,000 per episode.

Henry "The Fonz" Winkler could buy a lot of leather jackets with his earnings for the one week he'll be on both "Happy Days" and "Joanie Loves Chachi." Winkler will get a whopping $350,000 total for both gigs. That works out to almost $10,000 for each hour on the set. Aay!

Wacky TV health guru Richard Simmons stunned shoppers at an LA mall by walking into a piano store, picking up a life-size cardboard likeness of Liberace and waltzing it around the place, singing. The manager asked Richard to kindly put back the photo, which was used to advertise pi-

Ex-"Incredible Hulk" Lou Ferrigno ate an incredible bulk of food at a Naples, Italy, party, downing seven swordfish steaks, two orders of string beans, three baked potatoes, melon and strawberries with cream and three iced coffees. Ferrigno washed it all down with five bottles of mineral water. Lou explained he has to keep his weight up for his now-lensing "Hercules" flick.

Tiny Herve "Tattoo" Villechaize appears ready to sit tall in the saddle in this scene from an upcoming "Fantasy Island" episode. Country

Jack Lemmon's Wife Sends Him Packing

By R. Couri Hay

Jack Lemmon and his longtime wife Felicia Farr have split. Pals say she threw him out after a terrible fight, and now she's living at home with their daughter while Lemmon is turning up at parties alone, looking glum. Insiders say Felicia just got fed up with Jack's drinking... Elizabeth Taylor telling pals she's getting a face lift. Liz feels she's looking haggard these days, so she's shopping around for a good plastic surgeon.

Movie superstar Burt Reynolds — in agony from an old back injury — shelled out $25,000 for a special van equipped with an orthopedic bed. Burt's spending every free minute in the van while filming "Stand On It" in Atlanta with new love Lon Anderson... Super-rich Arab Adnan Khashoggi sent his private plane to London to fly Chris "Superman" Reeve and gal pal Gae Exton to Monte Carlo just so they could attend Adnan's big birthday blowout. Khashoggi also picked up all their expenses — and the entire tab totaled $75,000. He did it for his son, who's a big Superman fan.

LIZABETH SCOTT
Going like 60.

Veteran film actress Lizbeth Scott, still striking at 60, dating screenwriter David Columbia — who's at least 20 years her junior. They're regularly out on the town, and were spotted hugging and kissing at a recent BevHills party honoring actress Susan Strasberg... Trying to prove he was tougher than "Rocky," a drunk lunged past Sylvester Stallone's five bodyguards in Philadelphia and threw a swing at the beefy actor. Sly calmly dropped him with a single punch.

Richard Gere, the star of "American Gigolo," is getting a $100,000 bonus for doing a frontal nude scene in his new flick, "Breathless." Gere says he doesn't mind baring it all as long as the footage is used in good taste... Gourmet superstar Paul Newman's created his own salad dressing, called "Newman's Own." It will go on sale nationally in supermarkets and other stores next month.

Robert Redford's daughter Amy bitten by the acting bug at the tender age of 11. Dad's enrolled her in a ritzy New York school where she's taking acting lessons — and he's also supervising a diet designed to melt off her baby fat... "Exorcist" star Linda Blair captivated by handsome new "Dynasty" cast member Gordon Thomson, who will play Blake Carrington's long-lost son next season. The woosome twosome are making the rounds of Tinseltown's dating circuit.

Songbird Diana Ross stopped her show and gently bopped a security guard over the head with her hand mike when she spied him shoving fans crowding the raised stage during a Paris concert. Diana told him she doesn't like violence... And how was YOUR week?

Tomorrow's Drugs Will Make You Happier, Smarter & More Creative

Astonishing new drugs that will let you choose your mood, enhance sexual desire and function and reduce the need for sleep will be developed within the next 10 years.

That's the amazing conclusion of world-famous psychiatrist Dr. Nathan Kline.

"There have been many recent breakthroughs that have brought us to the verge of enhancing or suppressing a wide variety of moods and mental states," said Dr.

By ERIC BROWN

Kline, clinical professor of psychiatry at New York University.

"The mood drugs of tomorrow — by which I mean within the next 10 years — will enhance such mental states as happiness, sexual desire, creativity and alertness. They will also promote tranquility by suppressing stress, boredom, anger, fear and guilt. And they'll even enhance the senses of sight, hearing, touch, taste and smell.

"Drugs for enhancing sexual response and function and drugs for prolonging memory or shortening it selectively will be developed in five to 10 years.

"A drug that will deepen our awareness of beauty will take about 15 years.

"A drug that will reduce the need for sleep — possibly to about 3½ hours a night — will probably be ready in five to 10 years. It will take until the year 2000,

BY BILL HOEST

"... And that extra fifty dollars is your guarantee that your husband will never hear about your little accident."

but I expect we will develop a drug that will extend childhood — lengthening the time during which the acquisition of knowledge and skills comes most easily.

"Drugs that relieve a feeling of guilt that is undeserved should take 15 to 20 years to develop. In addition, a drug that actually produces guilt, developed in the same period, would be used to make a criminal feel guilty for an act — and could prevent him from repeating it. That could do away with the need for prisons."

Said biochemist Dr. Alexander Shulgin, "We have the know-how right now to create a 'martini' pill. It would have all the happy effects of 1½ martinis for a couple of hours. But there'd be no liver damage and no hangover.

"Progress in the molecular sciences has made the tailormaking of mood drugs possible."

Vitamin C Slashes Your Risk of Stomach Cancer

By DAN SCHWARTZ

Vitamin C slashes your risk of getting stomach cancer. Doctors studying the vitamin say it helps prevent formation in the body of chemical agents called nitrosamines, which are suspected of causing cancer.

Nitrosamines are formed when the body absorbs nitrites or nitrates from certain foods or from pollutants in air, soil and water.

Among the most common sources of nitrates are bacon and other smoked meats, smoked fish, pickled vegetables and lunch meats.

But taking vitamin C just before meals helps prevent development of nitrosamines, says Dr. Edward J. Calabrese.

"The evidence for vitamin C's protective action is overwhelming," declared Dr. Calabrese, who is an associate professor of public health at the University of Massachusetts.

"Remarkably, vitamin C protects against stomach cancer by preventing the formation of nitrosamines," he added.

Researchers at the University of Hawaii made a study — published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition — comparing the incidence of stomach cancer among four different population groups. Japanese in Japan, Japanese in Hawaii, Caucasians in the U.S. and Caucasians in Hawaii.

"Results showed that the gastric (stomach) cancer rate is lowest among whites in the continental U.S. and highest among the Japanese in Japan," said Dr. Abraham Nomura.

He is an associate professor of public health at the University of Hawaii, one of the coauthors of the study.

Difference in diet is the reason for the difference in the rates of stomach cancer, according to Dr. M. Ward Hinds, a researcher at the university.

"The Japanese diet in Japan is heavy in foods containing nitrates such as salted and dried fish and pickled vegetables," he explained.

"On the other hand, the Western diet is rich in fresh fruit, which is loaded with vitamin C."

Dr. James A. Scott, a researcher at Harvard Medical School, added that to be on the safe side, adults should take approximately 500 to 600 milligrams of vitamin C per day.

This dosage should be divided equally and taken with the three daily meals, he added.

Often our opinions are influenced more by what we suspect than by what we know.

— The Country Parson

Will They Set a Time Limit Next?

There's a place for everything — even kissing, as these two signs posted at a Deerfield, Ill., train station show. Local officials put up the signs hoping to eliminate traffic tie-ups caused by kissing couples. But commuters still pucker up wherever they please and the "no kissing zone" isn't enforced, officials say.

I Saw Mom's Soul Glide Up to Heaven

Have you ever had a psychic experience? Then why not share it with ENQUIRER readers? If your story is chosen for publication, we'll send you a check for $100. That's how much Mrs. Yvonne Ray, 56, of Daytona Beach, Fla., got for telling the moving story below. Describe your experience in a brief letter. Be sure to include your name, address and telephone number. Write to: Psychic Editor, NATIONAL ENQUIRER, Lantana, Fla. 33464.

By Mrs. YVONNE RAY

I looked up at the night sky and prayed: "Dear God, please take my mother's soul to you mercifully." Then right before my wide-open eyes I saw something I could barely believe.

I saw my mother's soul.

Minutes earlier I had been holding her hand when she died in her hospital bed from a stroke, a week shy of her 81st birthday. Doctors came rushing into the room and I turned and stepped out into the hall.

Immediately next to my mother's room was a door which opened onto an open-air balcony. I stepped outside into the cool, crisp September night.

It was then that I looked up at the night sky and prayed for my mother's soul. Suddenly, a gray vapor began to rise from the closed window of the room where my mother's still-warm body lay. Speechless, I watched this vapor take on the form of my tiny mother's body and continue to glide upward toward the heavens.

I stood there, frozen in place, unable to move my legs until I heard the voice of a nurse — a nun — behind me.

"Are you all right?" she asked. When I told her what I had just seen, she smiled and told me softly — without the slightest hint of surprise, "Yes, I believe that you did see your mother's soul — that happens here often."

Robert Wagner Breaks Heart of Natalie's Mom

"Hart to Hart" star Robert Wagner has shunned the family of his late wife Natalie Wood since her mysterious death last November — and his actions have deeply wounded Natalie's mother and sister.

In the cruelest move of all, Wagner has prevented Natalie's mom Maria Gurdin from seeing Natalie's two young daughters — the grandchildren Mrs. Gurdin helped raise and used to visit every single day.

Since Natalie died, her mother has seen the children a mere three times. Wagner — who plans to wed actress Jill St. John in December — devastated Natalie's grieving mom and actress sister Lana Wood by sending a message to them through a friend saying he didn't want them around his home.

And when Lana dropped by his home uninvited, Wagner stunned her by coldly ignoring her.

Then, when Lana later sent Wagner a note pleading for a chance to talk over the upsetting situation, she didn't even get a reply!

"Lana and her mother are lying awake nights sobbing their hearts out over the way Robert has treated them following Natalie's death," confided a close friend of Lana.

"Wagner's let it be known to them both that they're not welcome in his home anymore."

"Lana told me with tears in her eyes: 'How can Robert do this to me? How can he shut me out like this? We were all so close!'"

"She and her mom are heartbroken, bitter and angry."

Natalie's body was found floating off Catalina Island (Calif.) last November 29, some eight hours after she vanished from the Wagners' yacht.

Before the tragedy, Lana and Mrs. Gurdin were a part of the Wagners' family circle and were at the family's Beverly Hills mansion daily. "Natalie's mother often used to baby-sit and care for the children when she visited the house. She helped raise them," said a longtime family friend.

But soon after Natalie's death, Wagner cut off Natalie's family from her two children who live with him, say insiders. He let Lana and her mom know he wanted them to keep away from his home.

Said an insider: "Lana told me 'We received the message from R.J. (Wagner's nickname) through friends that he didn't want to see us, period'."

"My mother and I were shocked and deeply hurt by the message. It was a real blow to us."

At first the two women thought that Wagner didn't want them around because he was so grief-stricken, say friends.

And Lana, who resembles Natalie, felt Wagner wanted to avoid anything or anyone that reminded him of his tragic loss.

But then Wagner took up with Jill St. John three months after Natalie's death — and they were "stunned and horrified" that he'd found a replacement for Natalie so soon, said the friend of Lana.

Confirmed the insider: "Lana and her mother, Mrs. Gurdin, waited for Wagner to overcome his

... He Cuts Her Off From Grandchildren

LAST PHOTO of Natalie and Lana together was taken by Wagner shortly before his wife's death.

But the surprise was on them — they found a birthday party already in progress, and they hadn't been invited or even told!

"Wagner was cold and distant," reported the friend.

"At the party, he practically ignored Lana and Alan. When he did talk to them, he was abrupt and there was no affection in his words or emotion in his eyes. He seemed to stay as far away from them as he could. Lana was shocked and stunned. She felt he'd be happy to see her and he clearly was not."

Shortly afterward, still another message filtered back through a pal that Wagner "didn't want them around," the friend said.

In mid-July, Lana tried again to reunite the two families, the family friend said.

"She sent R.J. a note saying she felt very hurt that she'd been cut off from the remaining members of her family. She told him she wanted to discuss her feelings and the situation."

"Lana pleaded with him to open his heart again to her — and to the children's beloved grandmother. 'How can you, who have loved us all your life, cut us out now?'" she asked.

"But she didn't even get a reply."

Said Lana's friend: "Lana only hopes it's a nightmare that will soon end — and that she and her aging mother will be welcomed back."

— ALAN BRAHAM SMITH

The longtime friend of the family is convinced that Wagner is currently giving his late wife's family the cold shoulder "because he finds it difficult to explain another woman in his life so quickly."

Lana's 8-year-old daughter Evan isn't even invited over anymore to play with Natalie's daughter Courtney — although they've been pals all their young lives, noted the friend.

To try to end the lockout Lana and her boyfriend, actor Alan Feinstein, paid a surprise visit to Wagner's home last February 10 — his birthday — and brought along a bottle of wine to help him celebrate the occasion.

HERE GOES ... Dressed like a filthy bum, Enquirer reporter Byron Lutz stands in line with tourists.

ONLY IN AMERICA!

Even a Bum Can Tour White House

You can look like a bum and still tour the White House!

That's what we discovered when ENQUIRER reporter Byron Lutz made himself as shabby-looking as possible for a visit to the President's home in Washington, D.C.

"I didn't shave for days," said Lutz. "I bought black canvas shoes and reduced them to tatters by rubbing them on a brick wall and soaking them in mud. My ill-fitting slacks had mud stains on the knees. My dirty T-shirt was wrinkled and torn, with gaping holes and cigarette burns in it."

"I put on my weathered beach hat and headed for the White House. On the way, I put soot from car tail pipes on my face, neck and arms."

"As I stood in line for a tour ticket across the street from the White House, parents pulled their children away from me. The people behind me stood back several feet. When I got to the booth where the free tickets are handed out, the man didn't even look at me. He just handed me a ticket. Once I got inside the White House fence, the woman who took my ticket turned her head away in disgust. But she still allowed me to pass."

"By this time Secret Service men had noticed me. They said nothing, but I saw them point me out to each other and whisper to pass the word to keep an eye on me."

"During the tour, an agent was constantly within 10 or 15 feet of me — but they never said anything. They just kept a wary eye on this dirty man in the tattered clothes."

Carol McCain, Director of the White House Visitor's Office, said, "The White House belongs to the American people. We don't place any restrictions on who can take the tour. And certainly, we can't tell them how to dress."

"So, yes, even a bum can tour the White House — I guess The ENQUIRER proved it."

MURDER IN MOVIELAND

The specter of murder and intrigue rears its ugly head in high society from time to time. Here, in another exclusive ENQUIRER installment from his new book,

"Murder Among the Mighty," author Jay Robert Nash vividly describes how raging jealousy turned the actor and ex-boxer Tom Neal into a killer.

By JAY ROBERT NASH

Everyone in Hollywood agreed Tom Neal was a he-man who took no abuse from anyone.

The ex-boxer's heyday in films began during the mid-1940s, when he appeared in such war epics as "Flying Tigers" with John Wayne. Most of the actor's roles, however, were as leading men in low-budget movies.

BOOK BONUS

How Jealousy Turned Actor Into a Killer

In 1950, Neal began seeing actress Barbara Payton, a blonde casting-couch cutie who had had some success in films. Her biggest role was that of James Cagney's gun moll in "Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye" in 1950.

Barbara wanted Neal to marry her but he didn't want to. The actress then began a tempestuous love affair with distinguished actor Franchot Tone, mostly to arouse Neal's notorious jealousy.

Hearing that Tone was dating Barbara, Neal on Sept. 14, 1951, raced to Payton's home to find the couple stepping outside. The actor rushed Tone, who was barely able to put up his hands in defense of himself. The ex-boxer landed 10 or more powerful blows to Tone's face and head, breaking Tone's nose and rendering him so senseless that he was hospitalized for a brain concussion. Franchot Tone was never again the same man as his slurred voice and dazed manner suggest in later films. Barbara Payton's reaction to all this was to fly to Tone's side. The actress told sensation-hungry reporters that her decision to be with Franchot was caused by the bestial attack he had endured. They were married in her hometown in Minnesota, but the union lasted only seven weeks.

Neal's career had collapsed because of the Franchot Tone beating and, after having made 180 films, Neal became a landscape architect in Palm Springs.

Neal had married twice, his second wife, Patricia, bearing him a son and dying of cancer in 1958 after a two-year marriage. Neal's third wife, Gail Klocke, an attractive brunette who worked as a receptionist at the swanky Palm Springs Tennis Club, married him on June 8, 1961, in Palm Springs. Early on Friday morning, April 2, 1965, Palm Springs police received a call from Neal's attorney, in Beverly Hills, James P. Cantillon. The lawyer instructed police to go to Neal's house; the ex-actor's 29-year-old wife was dead of violent causes.

Police raced to the house to find Neal waiting for them on the lawn. The actor wordlessly led them inside to show them the petite form of Gail Neal. She lay on a large red couch clad in green pedal pushers and a green sweater. A blanket had been thrown over her. Pulling this back, officers saw that she was dead, a .45-caliber bullet wound behind her right ear.

Four days later, Neal was officially charged with murdering his wife.

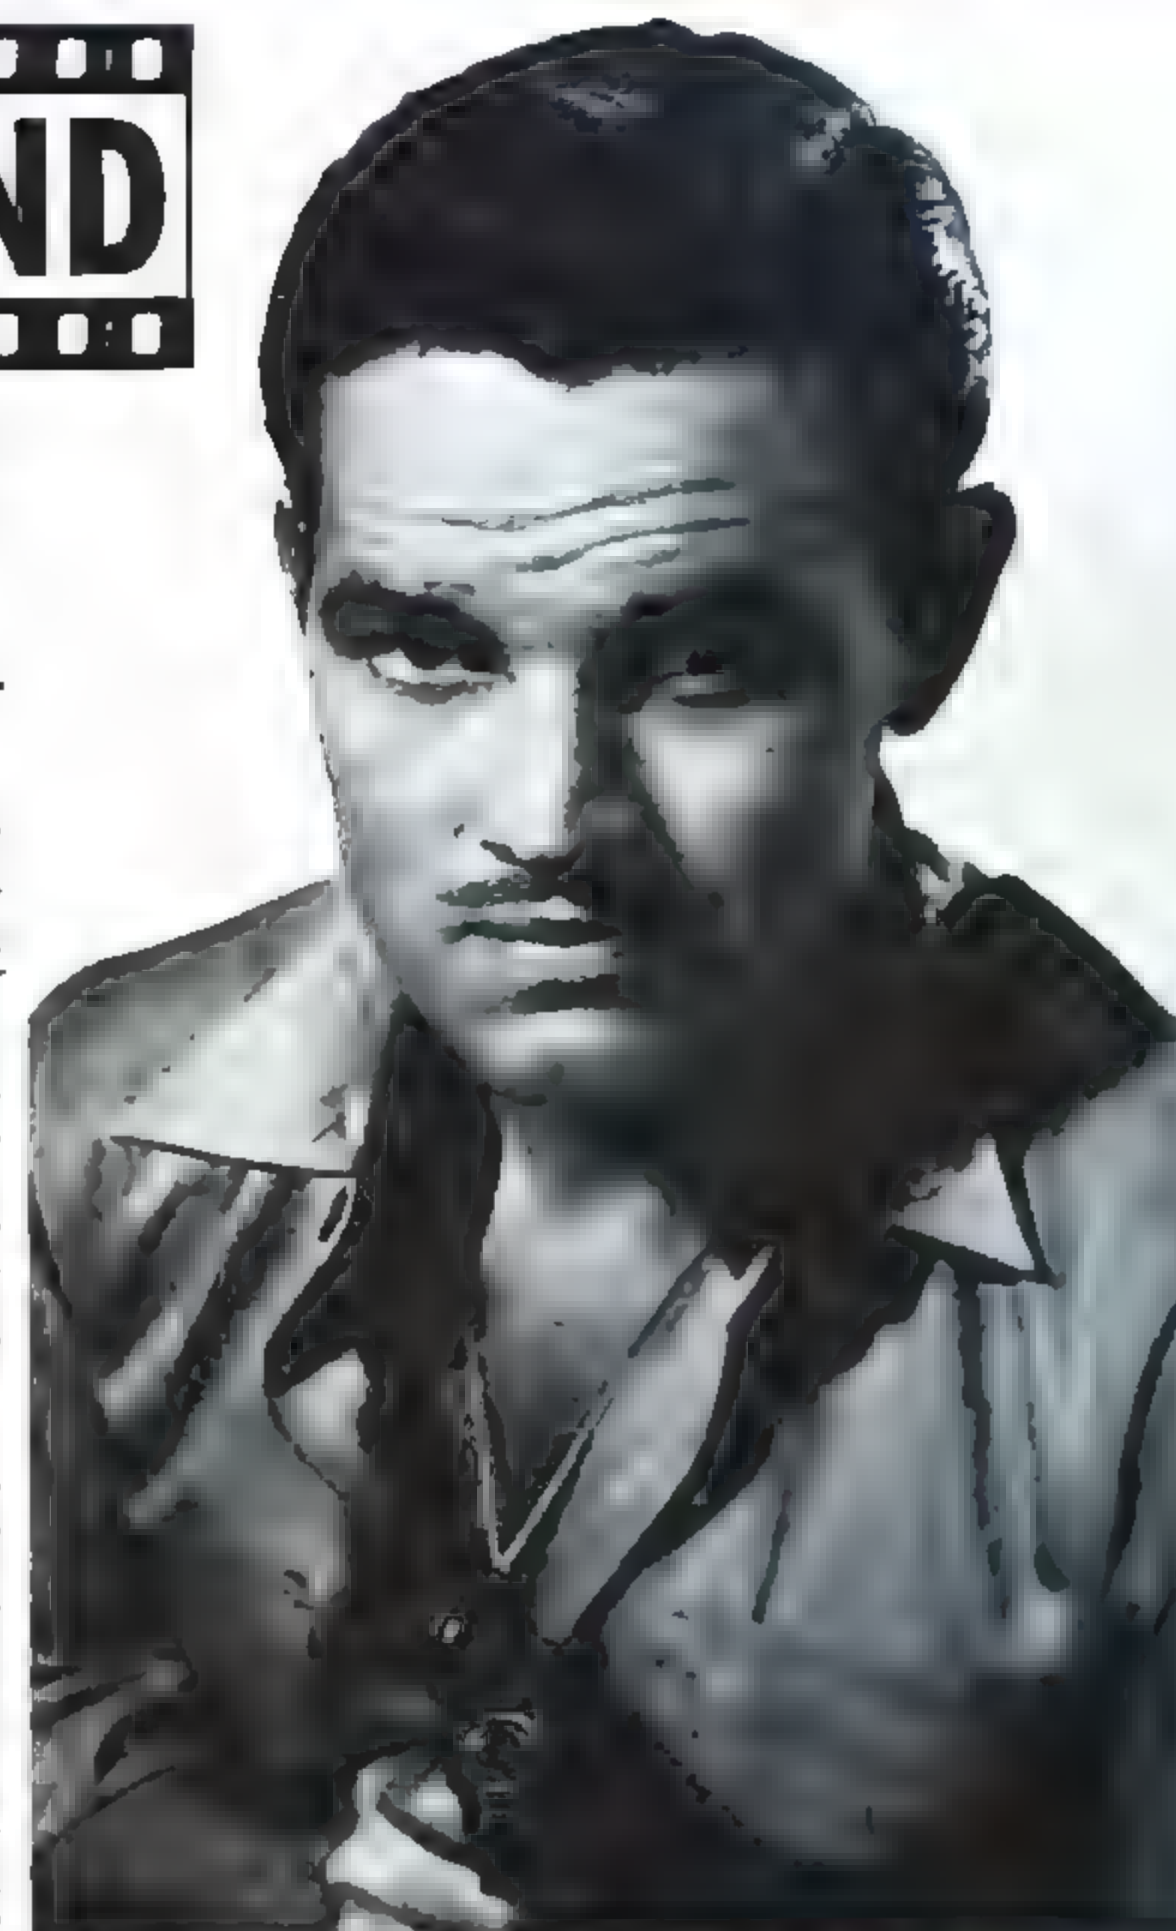

The ex-actor said that his wife had been accidentally shot, that she had been emotionally disturbed in recent weeks, that she thought someone was following her and had obtained the weapon that killed her for her own protection.

He later claimed that as he was making love to Gail, his wife suddenly withdrew the automatic from beneath a pillow and held it to his head. Neal had, moments before, accused her of sleeping with other men. They struggled for the weapon and it had accidentally gone off, killing her.

Neal's later testimony at his murder trial contradicted this statement. Confusedly, the ex-actor told several versions of his struggle with his wife. The prosecution doggedly persisted that Neal had murdered Gail because of jealousy.

Witnesses stepped forward to support the prosecution's claim. Robert Lawrence Balzer, a friend of Neal, testified that Neal told him he had murdered his wife, that he had shot her as she lay napping on the couch.

The prosecution abruptly rested its case against Neal, even though it had presented only eight of its 30 prospective witnesses. The age 57.

Neal went back into show business only briefly and died in Hollywood, where he had once been "King of the 'B' Pictures," on Aug. 7, 1972, a forgotten gardener, looking for lawns to mow.

OLD-STYLE POMPADOUR looks softer.

BOBBED style of the '20s is updated.

KNOTS AND BRAIDS add a romantic touch to this evening hairstyle.

New Fall & Winter Hairstyles . . .

Classic Cuts With New Twists

Fall and winter hairstyles will be softer, more glamorous versions of looks popular in the 1920s, '30s, '40s and '50s, say hair fashion experts.

Bobbed and geometric cuts and even a modified pompadour will be among the wide variety of fashionable shapes.

"The big difference is that this year's cuts will be updated for a softer look with lots of height and volume — as compared to the original, sleeker versions," says Louise Cotter, editor of American Hairdresser/Salon Owner magazine. Hairstyles will be freer with an airy, feathered look and hair will be worn up and off the face, she added.

The classic '20s look of bobbed hair — sleek and curled under at either the ear or the jawline — will be updated with softly permed bangs and fuller hair on top, said Cotter.

The sharp angles of geometric cuts will be softened by perming hair into a wavy, looser look. And the old-style pompadour — that rigid little roll of hair on the forehead — will be modified into a softer, wavier look, she said. Evening hairstyles will be very romantic with knots and braids that add a lot of detail to the hair.

Phillip Addario, co-owner of Phillip's, a popular Westport, Conn., salon, said, "The magic word will be variety. There will be plenty of super hair looks in long, medium or short lengths to complement fall and winter's sleek, slim line of clothes, where any length goes."

Meet England's Royal Family When They Were Tiny Tots

As a 1-year-old in 1922 (above left), Prince Philip grins almost as he does today (inset left). And this little lady (above right) grew up to be the Queen of England (inset right). Shown at the tender age of 2½ years, Elizabeth was daughter of the then Duke of York, who became King George VI.

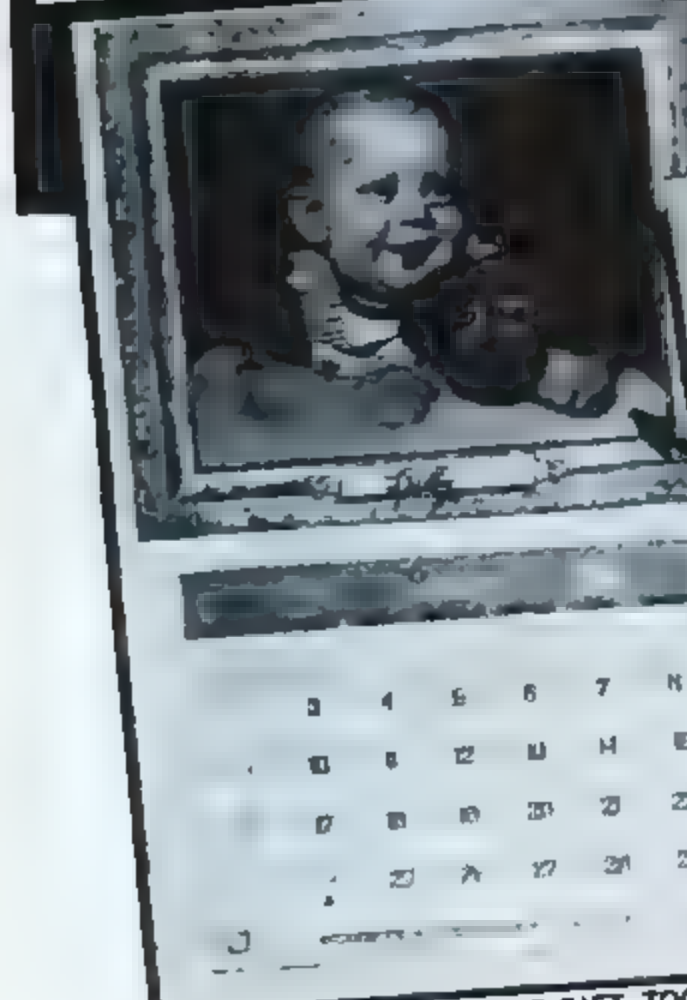

Bonnie Prince Charles, his hair combed back into a stylish wave, smiles royally for the camera in a photo taken more than 30 years ago.

Prince Charles and Princess Diana are justifiably proud of the newest addition to the royal family of England, little Prince William.

An appealing little Goldilocks, Princess Diana peers out from her carriage in the early 1960s.

Marilyn Monroe Was Murdered

...New Evidence Reveals It Wasn't Suicide

THREE YEARS AGO The ENQUIRER reported that officials had covered up the cause of Marilyn Monroe's death and called it a probable suicide.

You Read It Here First

Recent headlines in daily newspapers screamed of "new revelations" in the death of Marilyn Monroe — but The ENQUIRER revealed those same facts over three years ago.

One "revelation" is the statement by a former Los Angeles deputy coroner who says he was coerced into signing a death certificate declaring probable suicide caused Marilyn's death.

In addition, Marilyn's former husband, author Robert Slatzer, charges she was murdered, that her diary had mysteriously disappeared during the coroner's investigation, and that Robert F. Kennedy was involved in the cover-up of her death.

But all these so-called "new facts" are old news to ENQUIRER readers.

It took the wire services more than three years to catch up to The ENQUIRER's front-page story, headlined "Marilyn Monroe Was Murdered," describing suspicious circumstances surrounding the death of the 36-year-old actress.

In our May 1979 article, former Los Angeles deputy coroner Lionel Grandison broke a 17-year silence when he told us he was ordered by superiors to sign a death certificate declaring Marilyn's death was a probable suicide by a drug overdose.

"In my opinion, the investigation was a farce," Grandison told us then. "There was a suppression of the investigation... it was obviously death at the hands of another."

In the same article, Slatzer revealed that Marilyn and Robert Kennedy had been lovers, and that she had threatened to expose their affair just before she died.

"She knew too much about the Kennedys," Slatzer told The ENQUIRER three years ago. "She showed me a diary of hers containing some pretty confidential things pertaining to national security. It's no coincidence that the diary disappeared after her death."

On August 4, the wire services caught up with us.

Under such headlines as "Maybe Marilyn Didn't Kill Self," the Associated Press reported: "Former coroner's investigator Lionel Grandison said Tuesday he believed there were circumstances surrounding (Miss Monroe's) death that should have been investigated."

On August 11, United Press International reported a private investigator was offering a reward for the Monroe diary, "claiming it will prove his theory she was murdered by a 'dissident faction of the CIA' to protect secrets revealed to her by Robert Kennedy."

The story also said "Grandison's allegations about coercion and the missing diary were first made in an interview with The NATIONAL ENQUIRER in 1979."

The information has now forced officials to reopen the investigation into the cause of Marilyn's death.

'Trapper John' Star Gave Up Good Life To Be an Actress

She had it all: good teaching job in sunny Jamaica, devoted husband with a top-level government post, private school for their two young sons, lovely home, gracious life-style.

But in 1988, Madge Sinclair gave it all up to try for a career as an actress in America — and today she's costarring in TV's hit series "Trapper John, M.D."

Looking back, Madge has no regrets despite her years of struggling in New York, the loneliness, the hunger and the divorce that resulted from her bold move.

In her earlier life, Madge says she'd reached the point where she found herself asking, "Is this all there is?"

The actress recalled in an exclusive ENQUIRER interview: "It does take a certain amount of courage, or ignorance, to give up security. But it seemed to me there had to be something more in life. I was terribly young at the time, and when we are young we do things that amaze us in later years."

"If I didn't have the support — and if I didn't know that my children would be in very good hands — I would not have made the move."

"I arrived in New York with something like $26 in my pocket. I was really determined to make it on my own. "And when I was without money and got hungry I'd go into the Automat and get a cup of hot water and pour tomato catsup into it."

Madge worked at a string of odd jobs — from managing a wig shop to keeping the books for a sportswear company to landing work as a fashion model.

Modeling was her stepping-stone to bigger and better things. By the time she signed on with "Trapper John, M.D." she was an accomplished actress, having already appeared in six films and 14 movies for TV, in addition to having done theater and working in such other TV series as "All in the Family," and "The Waltons."

And today, she couldn't be happier — since her kids are close to her again.

Baby Makes History as Twin Gives Birth for Her Sister

Little Heather Michelle Harris is a baby that made history. In the very first case of its kind ever, 31-year-old Mary Curlette conceived and carried the baby for her identical twin sister, Copyright © 1982 by National Enquirer, Inc. All rights reserved.

The Mother: Our Love Gave Us This Wonderful Miracle

I gave one long, final push, straining with all my might as the baby was born. The doctor held it up — a 9-pound 9½-ounce girl!

Finally catching my breath after five long hours of labor, I said to the doctor, "Please give this baby to its mother!"

He gently put the baby in the arms of my twin sister, Martha.

"Thank you, thank you for my precious little angel!" she wept, her tears of joy mingling with the beads of sweat on my face.

"You've done something that no one else could ever do — you've given me a child I truly feel is part of me!"

I'd carried a baby for my sister. It was a wonderful miracle.

Martha — who'd wanted a baby for as long as I can remember — had had five miscarriages and then a hysterectomy.

A week after Martha's surgery in the summer of 1979, I discovered I was pregnant with my first child. I couldn't bear the thought of having a baby of my own and Martha going through a life empty of children.

I even considered giving the baby to Martha!

But when I suggested it, she gently refused. "This is your joy," she said. "Taking your child wouldn't make any of us happy."

Little Jeanette was born in March 1980.

Being a mother for the first time was the most rewarding thing in my life — but it also made me even more painfully aware of the loss my sister must have felt.

"I know the joy of holding my own child in my arms, of seeing that little face full of wonder and laughter," I thought.

"But Martha will never know any of that — the one thing she wants so desperately out of life. My dream for her is never going to happen!"

But there was a way I could help. I could give Martha and Jimmie a baby by artificial insemination.

It was an idea I'd first suggested shortly after Martha's hysterectomy, but her husband Jimmie refused. He said it would not be right. And he held onto that belief for two long years.

But then, after talks with my husband Gene and his minister, Jimmie changed his mind.

My dream for Martha was in reach!

My gynecologist began trying to make me pregnant using Jimmie's sperm. Two attempts failed, and we were all terribly ter, Martha Harris. Martha, who lives in Alabama, was unable to have children, and her husband Jimmie contributed his sperm to artificially inseminate Mary. Here, exclusively in BEAMING with happiness, Martha puts a bootie on baby Heather as Mary, the real mother, watches joyfully.

THE BABY LOVE BUILT: Surrounding Heather are (from left) Gene Curlette and daughter Jeanette, Mary Curlette (baby's natural mother), Martha Harris and Jimmie Harris (baby's father)

Mother's Hubby: Why I Agreed to Her Incredible Plan

I was flabbergasted! My wife Mary told me, "I want to have a baby for my sister through artificial insemination."

It was so bizarre — yet I realized Mary was deadly serious.

Then I recalled her extraordinary closeness to her twin sister Martha, who couldn't have any children. They were always two peas in a pod — although Martha was slim because she'd had a kidney infection once, and Mary had put on weight because of a reaction to her severe asthma.

I talked to God about Mary's plan, and could sense Him telling me this wouldn't hurt our marriage — but only make it stronger. And as I prayed, I felt God tell me to keep working on Martha's husband Jimmie, who was dead set against the idea.

I was never jealous to think my wife was going to carry another man's baby. The mere thought of Martha and Jimmie finally having a baby of their own pushed any selfish thoughts from my mind.

Mary's pregnancy began showing. We were so proud as our 2-year-old daughter patted her mommy's tummy and said, "Martha and Jimmie's baby."

The most awesome moment came on the big day when Mary gave birth, with Martha and me in the delivery room watching Martha was there at her side through it all.

I've never been so proud as when Martha carried her new daughter out to Jimmie, her thrilled daddy.

The tears of joy they shared as they gently touched this new little miracle in their lives were a sight I'll never forget as long as I live.

The Sister: I Felt My Heart Would Burst With Happiness

It seemed like a dream... a lovely dream come true! I was holding my baby in my arms — the baby my dear twin sister had given birth to for me.

The nightmares of losing five babies in eight years to miscarriages had disappeared. My agony was wiped away.

When I heard little Heather's first cry, I thought my heart was going to burst with joy. This was real! This was happening to me!

Now when I watch my baby sleeping peacefully, I can never thank God enough.

All my life I'd dreamed of becoming a mother. But every time I got pregnant something went wrong. With each miscarriage, my heart died a little.

"Will I ever have a baby of my own?" my mind cried. "Will I ever hear my own child's quiet cooing, or feel its little fingers wrapped around my thumb?"

All my life I'd watched with envy as mothers proudly paraded their little ones. When would it be my turn?

The final time I was pregnant, I was ecstatic. I actually carried the baby for five months. We even decorated a nursery.

Then disaster struck again. I lost the baby. And doctors devastated me even more with this crippling news: I had to have a hysterectomy.

That meant no more children. All my chances were gone.

I thought I would lose my mind. I couldn't even go near our nursery with its empty crib.

Then one day my twin sister Mary gently suggested an idea. Artificially impregnated with my husband Jimmie's sperm, she would carry my baby for me!

My mind danced at the mere chance of having a child of my own! "Lord," I prayed, "please let this miracle happen!"

But it was not to come so easily. Jimmie thought the idea was wrong. And that was that.

When Mary's own baby Jeanette was born, I loved playing with her but I was convinced that I'd never know motherhood.

Then Jimmie changed his mind. My tears of sorrow turned to tears of joy!

And a few months later, we learned the heartstopping news that Mary was pregnant — with Jimmie's baby. But it was my baby, too!

"At last!" I thought. "Soon my life will be complete! Soon I'll have a real baby to put in that nursery — a little bundle of gurgles and coos to tuck in at night, and gently kiss."

Being "pregnant" felt just like I dreamed it would. Every part of my body tingled with anticipation. I even felt morning sickness!

Then, late in July, I awoke with the strangest feeling in my stomach. A twinge... a pull. Could it be? I leaped out of bed and rushed to the phone to call Mary.

It was true! Mary was in labor. We were in labor! We rushed to the hospital together.

Now at last — after 11 years of heartbreak — my baby was coming! My head spun. My knees were weak. With each of Mary's contractions, I doubled over in pain, too.

"Please God let the baby be perfect," I prayed. "You know how I've wanted a child."

Then the baby was born. I had a daughter!

I almost collapsed with happiness. When she's old enough, we'll tell Heather all about her birth — that she was conceived out of the most honest love that four people could ever share!

A PRECIOUS GIFT OF LOVE: Heather sleeps peacefully, right at home in her mother's arms.

The Father: My Fear Turned to Joy When I Heard Sis Was Pregnant

"NO!" I screamed, pushing my sister-in-law Mary away from me.

I totally resented her repulsive idea — that she carry my baby through artificial insemination so my wife and I could have a child of our own. I was stunned. The idea was so ungodly!

Later, while recovering from a hysterectomy, even my wife Martha stunned me by suggesting the bizarre idea herself.

"It's not right!" I insisted. "It's against the Bible!"

But I must admit my heart softened after Mary and Gene's baby, Jeanette, was born.

Then one night Gene came certain it wasn't God's will.

Then, just when I was ready to chuck the whole idea — Mary's November pregnancy test was positive! I was overjoyed.

And I'll never forget my happiness when the baby was born and Martha burst out the delivery room doors and into my arms crying, "It's a girl! We have a daughter!"

At last our home would not be empty!

"Thank you, Lord!" I prayed. "This miracle was a long time coming — but thank you for blessing us so!"

3 Meaning, Day after day you awaken looking younger... each week younger still! In just three weeks you can look up to 15 years younger!

BEFORE ANOTHER NIGHT PASSES—READ THIS!

(London, England) At a dramatic news conference today, a leading European physician revealed that medical science has actually penetrated one of nature's deepest secrets... the cause of aged, dried-out looking skin... and discovered a natural FIRM-UP FOOD FOR THE SKIN that when applied nightly helps firm, tighten, give youthful appearance to aging complexion. That in just a few nights starts to plump out surface tissues... and almost seems to fade away fine lines, dried-looking skin and those finely etched squint lines that shout your age to the world.

Most incredible of all... a wondrous night food formula for the skin that when applied each night at bedtime actually helps you encourage the growth of a FRESHER, MORE YOUTHFUL LOOKING SKIN WHILE YOU SLEEP!

One week from today you are going to take an amazing youth-food formula for your skin—NOT A DRUG—NOT A HORMONE—but a natural FIRM-UP EXTRACT—that doctors have proven starts to tighten and firm facial tissues on contact—apply it directly to your face... go to sleep and JUST 8 HOURS LATER wake up to OVERNIGHT WONDER-RESULTS that up to now you might have thought utterly impossible!

So effective is this incredible wonder formula that according to leading European Specialists... in case after case, middle-aged women who long ago gave up all hope of ever recapturing more youthful looking beauty suddenly woke up LOOKING YOUNGER AFTER THE VERY FIRST MORNING... and continued to look YEARS YOUNGER, fresher, MORE VIBRANT all day long!

Even more startling... before 3 weeks had passed, they actually shed as much as 15 years from their appearance as those fine lines, dried-looking skin, that creepy look around the chin and throat began to firm, tighten, actually start to vanish from sight!

A DOCTOR EXPLAINS HOW NATURE'S OWN FIRM-UP EXTRACT HELPS SKIN GROW YOUNGER-LOOKING WHILE YOU SLEEP!

You see, unlike ordinary cosmetics that merely coat and mask complexion problems... this European treatment acts on the surface layers of your skin while you sleep... while the muscles and tissues of your face are most relaxed. In mere minutes... virtually on contact... this natural food-extract starts to promote the look of younger-looking complexion as your skin revitalized from within. In just a matter of hours it starts to stimulate youth-appearing skin functions... increases the flow of the body's own vital fluids to the upper skin cells... expands and gently firms out the dried out fine lines that mask your natural beauty in a veil of age. Yes, plumps out fine lines and shrunken surface tissues... so that in a single evening of sleep you start to firm away... draw lift lighten and tighten your entire complexion... make your skin look younger, firmer, smoother than it has in years.

Yes, just as a SALON FACIAL LIFT firms your complexion... over comes the ravaging effects of time... recaptures years of youthful beauty in a single hour... so this ALL NIGHT FACIAL FIRM-UP... unshakes your appearance from the hands of Father Time... only with this vital difference.

Unlike a SALON LIFT that merely touches upon the surface problems and therefore quickly loses its effectiveness in mere days... this proven nightly ALL-NIGHT FACIAL FIRM-UP works each night FOR A FULL 8 HOURS at a time—meaning you enjoy all its youth looking results right into the next day.

So when used nightly... instead of your face growing older looking each night—IT ACTUALLY GROWS YOUNGER LOOKING!

NOW STEP INTO A WHOLE NEW ERA THE AGE OF ALL NIGHT FACIAL FIRM-UP

Yes, when you use this ALL-NIGHT FACIAL FIRM-UP it's like a visit to a European "Youth-Clinic"... the very same "palaces of youth" that have extended the careers of ever so many leading actresses... as you FINALLY help reverse the appearance of age these 5 different ways:

- ALL NIGHT LONG 8 hours of continuous FACIAL FIRM-UP to counteract the age screaming effect of fine lines and visibly diminish crow's feet.
- ALL NIGHT LONG 8 hours of continuous LIFT to your complexion... soften and ease the harsh appearance of sag spots, under-eye and "squint lines."
- ALL NIGHT LONG 8 hours of continuous DEEP MOISTURIZING for overall smoothness and suppleness.
- ALL NIGHT LONG 8 hours of continuous YOUTHIFYING LOOK—to encourage the growth of fresh tissue.
- ALL NIGHT LONG 8 hours of CONTINUOUS DEEP MASSAGE ACTION—by gently increasing circulation to the upper skin tissues and helps promote more natural beauty.

Think of it: In one's life span—just 8 hours time—all in your very own bed—all while you sleep—you actually do as much to make your face look younger, smoother, softer... just as if you flew to Europe, visited this renowned special spa... in her very own office and had her presor be this youthifying treatment for you.

look up to 15 years younger... but by faithfully following this proven road to look youthful you can KEEP ON LOOKING YEARS YOUNGER THAN YOU REALLY ARE... EVERY DAY FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIFE!

PUBLICLY HUGGING & KISSING: Actress Shirley MacLaine gives thanks to gay woman who went onstage to give her a Gay Olympics pin.

Actress Shirley MacLaine was the big hit of a gay celebration in San Francisco — and when she hugged and kissed a lesbian publicly, the crowd went wild.

MacLaine was in town with her one-woman show, and agreed to emcee a dog show June 13 as part of a weekend gay celebration. The festivities also included a "beauty" contest of gay

"Shirley kissed her and hugged her — and the place went really crazy!"

Allen White, a writer for the gay newspaper The Bay Area Reporter, added: "The gays loved it! They went bananas."

Jay Johnson, coproducer of the gay celebration, said, "I have a photo of Shirley with one outrageous contestant who wasn't really a dog, but a man. He arrived as his 'master's' slave, dressed as a dog!"

"Shirley realizes she has a gay following, and is comfortable with gay people."

And added White, "When somebody like Shirley MacLaine shows at a totally gay event, it's an acknowledgment that she's not doing it for her career — she's doing it because it's fun!"

Reader Poll: 86% Say They're NOT Better Off

A whopping 86 percent of readers responding to a recent ENQUIRER poll say they are NOT better off today than they were a year ago.

Results of our poll published July 27 show that of 3,185 ballots cast, 2,743 or 86.1 percent voted "no" on the question, "Are you better off now than you were a year ago?" Saying "yes" — that they are actually better off — were 442 readers, or 13.9 percent.

As always in our polls, The ENQUIRER took no stand but presented both sides.

Arguing that Americans were NOT better off was Dr. Robert Lekachman, professor of economics at Herbert H. Lehman College of the City University of New York. "It's obvious we're worse off now than a year ago — the unemployment rate has gone up, a couple of Arguing the opposite view was Dr. Richard McKenzie, professor of economics at Clemson University in Clemson, S.C., and senior fellow at the Heritage Foundation, who said, "President Reagan's programs are designed for long-term economic recovery."

But more than eight out of 10 readers agreed with Dr. Lekachman, who said "Reaganomics has been a calamity."

Farrah Fawcett's Topsy-Turvy Love Life

By PAUL F. LEVY and STEVE COZ

Farrah Fawcett's crazy love life is more mixed up than ever!

In recent weeks she's dated ex-hubby Lee Majors, almost married longtime love Ryan O'Neal — and finally disappeared for six days into a Paris love nest with a 20-year-old Italian prince.

"Farrah's love life is a crazy merry-go-round," said a close friend. "She doesn't know what's going to happen from one day to the next!"

The latest incredible chapter in 35-year-old Farrah's topsy-turvy romantic life began in June, when Lee and Farrah's divorce proceedings were in their final stages.

Sources say Lee, the star of TV's "Fall Guy," desperately tried to salvage the marriage at the last minute by wooing Farrah.

"Lee made an all-out effort to win Farrah back — they spent more time together than they had in the past three years," said a source close to Lee.

"He was at Farrah's Bel-Air home about five times, and she was at his home in Encino to play tennis and have dinner three or four times.

"Farrah and Lee had dinner with another couple at the Imperial Gardens in Hollywood, and they both looked very happy with each other.

"Lee had his arm around her and they laughed and joked, as though they were having the best time of their lives."

While Lee and Farrah were whooping it up, their often-bitter divorce suit was reaching its conclusion.

On July 14, the marriage was officially ended with a stroke of the pen by Superior Court Judge Billy G. Mills.

As soon as she was free of the marriage, pals say, Farrah jetted off to Europe, where she was all set to secretly marry Ryan.

Farrah and Ryan spent two romantic weeks vacationing in the south of France, in the villa of Lynn Wyatt, the wife of a Texas oil millionaire.

"I've never seen the two of them so happy," said an insider.

"They played tennis every day, swam, went out to restaurants and discoed until the early hours. It was the perfect prelude to a romantic wedding that they had planned in a small French church."

The pair also enjoyed dinner at a swank Monte Carlo nightclub with singer Liza Minnelli.

But suddenly Ryan and Farrah's romantic bubble burst — when one night Farrah told Ryan that she had been seeing Lee, insiders reveal.

"Ryan exploded!" said a close friend of Farrah. "That started a quarrel that erupted into a vicious battle. Finally, Ryan called off the wedding and flew back to Los Angeles."

"Farrah stayed in France for some modeling assignments."

"Farrah called all her friends and told them the wedding was off — and one of those friends was Lee Majors."

Sources say Farrah ar-

Then she placed a phone call to the young Italian prince, handsome Urbano Barberini, a former boyfriend of Monaco's Princess Stephanie.

Barberini had also been staying at the Wyatt villa, and had become friendly with Farrah during her visit there.

"Farrah was terribly unhappy," revealed a Paris source.

"She told me she called Urbano and asked him to join her."

"She said he'd been sympathetic and charming at the villa, and she needed his company."

Urbano rushed to Paris that very day — and straight to Farrah's hotel room.

Sources say Farrah and Urbano were almost inseparable during their six-day stay in Paris.

Urbano accompanied Farrah to her two photo sessions, and the pair enjoyed dinners at the posh Regine's Club and Maxim's Restaurant.

But according to insiders they also spent lots of time tucked away in their hotel room with a "Do Not Disturb" sign on the door and had many of their meals sent in.

Said a hotel employee, "Several times a day they ordered champagne."

"For lunch and dinner, they had low-calorie food."

"Once, when I took some champagne to their room, Urbano was doing push-up exercises on the floor. Farrah was doing stretching exercises while sitting on the bed."

"Clothes were scattered all over the place. There were books and magazines and the radio was always playing pop music."

rapher revealed, "One night they went to Regine's disco, an expensive club, for dinner."

"One of the staff told me they were holding hands, smiling and kissing at their table."

Finally, at the Charles de Gaulle Airport August 8, Farrah and Urbano said their goodbyes.

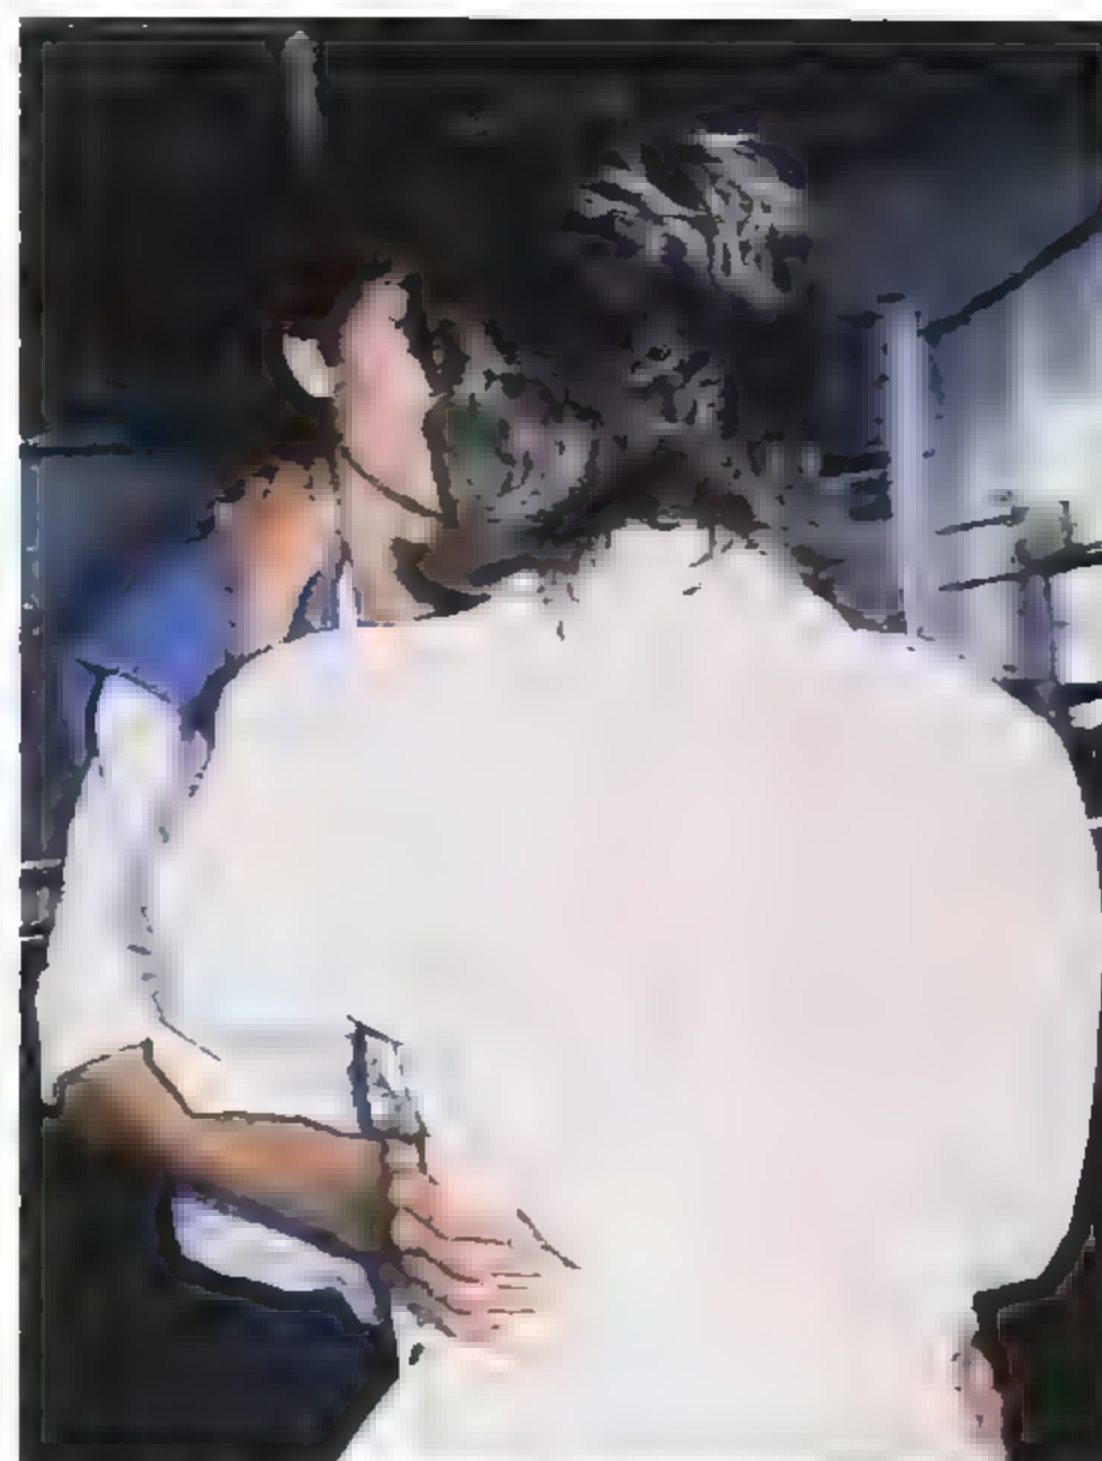

"They kissed and embraced several times — like young lovers," said Paris photographer Serge Benamou.

"After one last kiss she dragged herself away, waving as she went through the police check."

Now that she's back in Los Angeles, Farrah's close friend said, "She's been in seclusion at her Bel-Air home. Ryan hasn't even attempted to come by the house."

"The only person she will speak to is Lee — and they have spoken on the phone several times."

"Her love life is mixed up, going this way and that. It's so topsy-turvy that even she can't keep track of it!"

Give Them Your Best

In a hotel restaurant, two waitresses caught my attention as I waited to be served breakfast. One was unhappy and depressed as she muttered, complained and generally poisoned the atmosphere around her. She let everyone know that she had too many customers, too many people to please, too many aches and pains — and too few tips.

Fortunately for me, the other waitress was assigned to my area. Her pleasant countenance, melodious voice and enthusiasm for life started my day off beautifully. She made me feel that I was doing her a favor by choosing that particular restaurant, and that she considered it a privilege to serve me. The service was superb, and my food tasted even better because of the personal attention I received.

After leaving a larger-than-usual tip, I complimented her and then asked if she would tell me the secret of her contagious joy. She smiled, and her eyes reflected her cheerfulness as she answered: "I serve people here as I serve guests in my home."

Do we treat our employees, our customers, our colleagues, our friends and our casual acquaintances with the same consideration we would give them if they were guests in our homes?

'Dallas' Star Doubles Her Fun — Juggling Two Beaus on Her String

Dazzling "Dallas" beauty Victoria Principal's found romance again — and it's twice as nice because she's juggling the hearts of TWO handsome, high-powered men.

TOP EXEC: Fred can help Victoria's career.

The sexy 32-year-old star's being dined, wined and wooed by top Hollywood talent executive Fred Whitehead — and by Dr. Harry Glassman, a super-wealthy Beverly Hills plastic surgeon.

Friends say Victoria's "having the time of her life" as her suave, sophisticated suitors vie for her affections, treating her like "the Queen of Sheba."

Revealed one insider: "The trouble for Victoria is that she loves the company of each man so much that she can't make up her mind which one she prefers."

And after months of dealing with the "little boy" temper tantrums of 24-year-old former lover Andy Gibb, Victoria's ecstatic her heart's in the hands of mature men, say pals.

Victoria's two suitors stack up pretty evenly. Both are handsome, wealthy, powerful in their fields — and available. Dr. Glassman, 39, who met the star at a party through mutual friends, is separated from his wife and in the midst of divorce.

Fred Whitehead, 38, a vice presi-

"Victoria knows no one man can give her all she wants in life — but when combined, Glassman and Whitehead satisfy all her needs and desires," said a source close to the "Dallas" set. "Glassman is Beverly Hills money. He's a brilliant surgeon, but he is romantic as well. Whitehead, on the other hand, is a top man in the movie industry. He strokes her ego. She sees him as a vehicle for stardom beyond 'Dallas.'"

The weekend of July 17-18 was a typical example of how Victoria juggles her suitors.

Said a source close to Fred Whitehead: "Fred and Victoria spent the day together just going for a drive along the coast on Saturday (July 17). Then they went back to Fred's home for an intimate dinner before going out again to a party."

The next day, an observer spotted Dr. Glassman and Victoria exiting Hollywood's posh Spago restaurant. The witness told The ENQUIRER: "They came out of the restaurant laughing and joking, arm in arm. When the car came and they got in, Victoria leaned across to the driver's seat, put her arms around Dr. Glassman's neck and kissed him passionately on the lips for a few seconds."

Said an insider: "Victoria's seriously looking for a life partner. Both are strong candidates. Both appear to be making her happy. But she can't choose between them — because each is perfect for the moment they're together."

Psychic Locates Lost Boy — 1,000 Miles Away

By PAUL BANNISTER

A lost toddler's telepathic cries for help reached a psychic nearly 1,000 miles away — and the amazing clairvoyant described with uncanny accuracy where the child could be found!

"Almost everything the psychic told us was accurate. That's impressive," said Bill Estes, the local sheriff who had led the rescue search.

Little Nicholas Dailey, 2½, wandered away from his family's Wyoming campsite during the Fourth of July holiday and spent two cold, rainy nights sleeping beneath a tree before he was rescued.

During the search, frantic rescue workers sought help from psychic Bertie Catchings, who'd helped find another missing person. From her Dallas, Tex., home, Mrs. Catchings concentrated on the lost child.

She recalled: "Almost at once I saw a little blond boy in blue jeans and bright red shirt, wandering toward a stream and following a small animal I kept getting the word 'Punkin,' which I guessed was his nickname."

Mrs. Catchings also sensed Nicholas would be sleeping most of the time. Through her psychic powers, she saw the general terrain of the area with water and trees nearby.

She told Sheriff Estes that Nicholas could be found within a mile of the campsite. "Incredibly, her visions proved amazingly accurate when Nicholas was found 56 hours later — and just 400 yards from the campsite."

Said Estes: "The terrain she described was right and there was water not too far away, just like she'd said. And Nicholas was wearing a bright red shirt and blue jeans when he got lost, like Mrs. Catchings described, although she had no way of knowing that."

Even more amazing, the psychic was correct about the boy's nickname — Punkin. Nicholas' mother, Nikki confirmed that her son wandered off after a small animal, a squirrel — just as the psychic had seen. And he'd spent most of his time sleeping underneath a tree.

Rescuer Bruce Luick, 29, recalled how he found the lost boy: "A chill ran through me and I stopped in my tracks. I sat on a rock, bowed my head and said a prayer. I asked for guidance — a signal from God. As I brought my head up, a bird whistled. I took about three steps toward the bird and heard a tiny little moan."

Nicholas' mother told The ENQUIRER: "In my mind, I heard Nicholas crying out for me. I'm sure he was sending out a psychic cry for help that I heard. Mrs. Catchings heard and even Mr. Luick heard."

'That's Incredible!' Star: My Six Secrets for Success

Cathy Lee Crosby attributes her success in show business to six secrets for getting ahead in any field. And believing in yourself is No. 1, reveals the star of TV's "That's Incredible!"

"Believe in yourself and you're halfway there," Cathy insists. "I believe in myself. I like myself. I've come a long way, and I've learned that it's nice to be at ease with life. "Believing in yourself is important, otherwise you won't be able to add to your life or to anybody else's."

Attitude is next, according to Cathy. By cultivating an enthusiastic attitude — one of optimism, of hopefulness — you vastly boost your chances of succeeding at whatever you want to do, she observes.

Smiling is the third secret. "It makes you feel good and more secure, and it relaxes other people. A smile can do so much for you," Cathy points out.

Here are her three remaining secrets:

Be understanding. "You should understand that people are basically good and they have feelings. Always remember this when talking to someone. Don't demand too much from others."

Cooperate. Your chances of success are much better if you cooperate with others rather than resist by trying to have things your own way, Cathy says. One excellent form of cooperation is to allow the people around you to be themselves, she adds.

Evaluate. Every person should evaluate his success daily, counting even little accomplishments and victories, Cathy believes.

If you want to be a millionaire, each dollar you earn toward that goal represents success, she explains.

Govt. Sends More of Your Tax $$ Down a Rat Hole

The crazy National Institute of Mental Health gave researchers $86,750 of your tax money to find out if baby rats prefer nursing on breasts containing milk or breasts with no milk.

And guess what? The researchers determined they prefer milk!

"As is the case with many research projects, you begin with very simple concepts and you try to show beyond doubt that certain things that many (people) take for granted are, in fact, true," one of the researchers said.

But as far as U.S. Rep. Ron Paul (R-Tex.) is concerned your tax money spent on the study was poured straight down a rat hole

"This is an outrageous waste of taxpayers' money," he pointed out.

"It's obvious that a baby rat would rather suck a breast with milk."

You Risk Becoming Allergic to Foods You Eat Daily

By FRANKLIN R. RUEHL

Eating too much of one kind of food increases your chances of developing an allergy to it.

That's the eye-opening finding of researchers, who say that it's simple to find out if you're allergic to some food you eat almost every day.

"Incredibly, when you eat the same foods day in and day out, you increase the probability, the risk of developing an allergy to those foods," declared Dr. Joseph McGovern, an adjunct professor at Brigham Young University who's currently involved in allergy research. "For example," continued Colorado allergy expert Dr. Lawrence Dickey, "if you eat sugar every day, you have a high probability of developing a sugar allergy. Heavy eatings of whole grains frequently develop allergies to whole grains. Eating the same fresh fruits and vegetables every day can readily give you an allergy."

There are many symptoms of food allergies, said Dr. McGovern. Possible symptoms include drowsiness after eating, diarrhea, constipation, nausea, vomiting, migraine headache, hyperactivity, muscle pain, joint aches, hives and backache. Mental depression and mood swings are also psychological signs of food allergies, he added. If you suffer one or more of these symptoms, Dr. McGovern said, "Carefully watch your diet, and see which foods you have been eating on a regular basis. Make a detailed list of your daily intake for a week.

"Eliminate one of those foods you think you may be allergic to, removing it from your diet for four full days. Then, reintroduce it to see if you have an adverse reaction to it. If the symptoms return, you are allergic to that food."

You can repeat the procedure until you've singled out the food you're allergic to. In 95 percent of food allergy cases, Dr. McGovern said, the reaction is caused by eating too much of a specific food. It is only in the remaining five percent that a person is born with an allergy, and eating patterns do not affect it.

Said Dr. McGovern, "Simply by controlling your diet with variety, you can avoid allergies almost completely."

By MAUREEN MILLS

I met my mate when he saved me from drowning in a rip tide so strong it pulled my bikini right off.

Right after World War 2, while I was living in California, I loved to go to the beach every day. I even had one of the world's first bikini swimsuits.

On a brisk April day, I went with my cousin and her boyfriend to a beach where swimming wasn't allowed. But I went into the surf anyway. Before I knew it, a rip tide was dragging me under.

I fought against it, but I was pulled under a second time.

Then out of nowhere I saw this tall, handsome stranger coming out to rescue me. I didn't think he'd make it in time. Then I felt his large hand grab my arm.

I was saved! But then with a shudder, I realized that my bikini was gone. There I was, being dragged back to shore stark naked by a handsome stranger! I'll never forget his stunned look when he realized I was naked!

He swam to shore with me and grabbed the first beach blanket we came to and threw it around me. I thought he was adorable. We had a two-month courtship. He was wonderfully square. I think William felt he had to marry me to make an honest woman of me — after all, he'd seen me naked!

In 35 years of marriage, I never regretted marrying my tall, handsome hero.

Now—enjoy a life of unbelievable riches, lasting love and constant protection with the secrets in this startling WITCH BOOK—

THE MAGIC POWER OF WITCHCRAFT

Whatever it is you need or want, Witchcraft can get it for you quickly, easily, and automatically, say these experts. You'll discover how it can bring abundant and overflowing wealth, find or bring back a lover, ward off evil influences, and much more—step-by-step in plain English, with complete easy-to-follow instructions!

Yes... Witchcraft! Every time you hear the word it brings with it the feelings of deep occult secrets—secrets that you would like to know so that your life can be better; so that your enemies will stop bothering you, so that serenity, love, power and comfort can be yours!

THE MAGIC POWER OF WITCHCRAFT lays bare these secrets for the first time! Do you want a bank account bursting at the seams with money? A love life that would make a sultan envious? Supreme power to crush your enemies and reward your friends? What would it be worth to you to utter a simple incantation that would cause any pain to vanish? Or say another, and immediately recover some lost object?

What would it be worth to you to fly through time and space, on astral wings, as Witches do... go wherever you wish... do whatever you wish... without being detected... watch the antics of others behind closed doors... hear private conversations... make time run forward or backward... read tomorrow's newspaper in a "black mirror"... find out what really happened in history... make your face old or young at will!

BRINGS AUTOMATIC ASSURED SUCCESS!

Witchcraft can bring your heart's desire! You can use it to heal someone, influence the boss to give you that raise, or make someone stop bothering you! It's easy! The easiest thing in the world! You don't have to be wealthy or super-intelligent to get started! Thousands of ordinary people all over the world are using Witchcraft Power right now!

Witches have known for centuries that people are scared of them and their powers! And rightly so! NOW YOU CAN SHARE THE SAME POWER that gives you literally—life and death control over other persons! It's someone bothering you? No problem at all, with Magic Witchcraft. For example, there is a spell called the "Cross Not My Path" ritual, for people who are having neighbor trouble. When you use it, you know you will never again have trouble with this neighbor!

With these amazing Witchcraft secrets, other people will look up to you in awe—you'll automatically dazzle others with your power to make things happen at your will, you'll be Master of your destiny and never have to apologize to anyone for anything!

Whatever you want or need, whatever frustration is bothering you, Witchcraft will help you. It is not evil—nor is it Black Magic. Like electricity, it is simply a power given by nature for the use of men, to make life easier.

You'll see how to get paid without working... how to get expensive clothes and furs FREE... how to get a first-class plane seat FREE... how to vacation at the finest hotels, motels, pools and pleasure palaces, start living like a millionaire as Witches do!

For centuries, these Witchcraft secrets were hushed up so that those in power could stay in power! Feudal lords kept their bondsmen as slaves. Factory owners kept their employees in dreaded sweatshops, because these masters knew they must not allow their workers to realize that they need not labor their lives away! Witchcraft was suppressed because it works! Not because of any "evil" in it! If it hadn't worked, no one would have worried about it. If you want to gain power, all you need is this amazing Witch Book!

By using these Witchcraft secrets, you too can change your life and gain health, wealth, someone to love—or anything else—surely, swiftly and automatically!

miracles happen in their daily lives!

You'll see how Vern, a man who likes to give a lot of expensive parties, was always short of cash until he discovered the amazing WITCH'S MONEY JAR—now all he has to do is dip in, for it brings him an endless flow of cash! Evelyn, a waitress, was always lending money to friends and was always broke. Finally, she placed her last dollar on the table and worked the MONEY MAGNET SPELL over it. All at once, dozens of people who had borrowed money from her rushed to pay her back!

Hank was perpetually broke. One night he got together with some friends, and they decided to cast the MONEY SPELL. The very next day, Hank received in the mail a check for some $250 worth of insurance. (He had never heard of the company that sent the check, he was not insured with them, and had never even made a claim—but he accepted the money.) Another member of the group that used the spell, a 40-year-old secretary, received an automobile as a gift! All the other members of the group received amazing windfalls of money, as well! You'll see how Dealer, a retiree lives RENT FREE and receives $200 a week, at the age of 78, with a secret you'll find in this Witch Book! You'll see how Claudine, a secretary, was able to wear the finest, most expensive furs—FREE—and spend weekends at an expensive ski lodge in the mountains, where she met a wonderful man! How Ruth L., a widow—with nothing but a small pension and a little savings—received her dream house, by using a simple 5-minute ritual on page 18 of the book! Using the same Witchcraft secrets, YOU can achieve peace of mind and freedom from money worries for the rest of your life!

YOU CAN HEAL YOURSELF AS WITCHES DO!

Feeling sick today? Plagued by a lot of troublesome illnesses? Perhaps some relative is sick and constantly demanding your attention? Or perhaps it's even a pet that needs help! With the MAGIC POWER OF WITCHCRAFT you can cure anything say authors Gavin and Yvonne Frost. In our experience, we have not found a single incurable disease!

• ANDY DISSOLVES A GALLSTONE!—Andy M. developed gallstones. When his illness became too troublesome to ignore, he went to a doctor. Urine tests revealed that he was chronically alkaline. His body was badly out of balance. Using this Witchcraft method to restore balance to the mind and body—in a short while X-rays showed that he had no more gallstones! Andy never again suffered the excruciating pain of passing stones!

In the same way, say Gavin and Yvonne Frost, almost all illness can be prevented. You are actually employing an ancient Witchcraft method to remove diseased tissue! Even if you do not have any belief in the results, the power will work for you! One woman, who had been in a wheelchair for 26 years, due to polio and arthritis, used the Witchcraft healing method and reported that she had no pain and could walk and garden again! A man reported that his son's deep 3rd degree burns miraculously healed overnight!

• SO SIMPLE A CHILD USES IT!—A 4-year-old girl asked if she could try to heal a man who was limping due to a torn ligament—with this simple Witchcraft healing method. In a matter of moments she started her chant, laying her hands on the weak ankle. The man was miraculously cured! To skeptics, this should be convincing PROOF that anyone can use it!

AMAZING POWER CAN BE YOURS!

Whether you want infinite wealth or just a comfortable new home, financial security, fine possessions, love, companionship, new health and vigor, power to control others, secret knowledge, protection from evil, or anything else, the magic power of Witchcraft can bring it to you quickly, easily and automatically! It's the easiest thing in the world!

• HOW TO SEE INTO THE FUTURE!—Would you like to be able to see the future? You CAN with the magic Black Mirror you'll see how to make on page 23. All you need is some ink and a bowl of water. Then use the chant on this page, and you will be able to see many things. One man uses it to read tomorrow's newspaper. YOU can use it to check the stock market or that important horse race!

• MAKE TIME RUN BACKWARD OR FORWARD! A

Lion Heavily on His Young Trainer

Even the mighty king of the jungle needs a shoulder to cry on sometimes — and Phillip Allanson gladly offers his shoulder to Ben, the first lion he ever trained. "He is just as gentle as a lamb, but if he wanted to he could easily tear my head off," says Allanson who, at 21, is the youngest lion tamer in Australia.

Divorce — Separating Myth From Harsh Fact

With 40 percent of all marriages ending up on the rocks, everyone should know about divorce.

Here are some of the myths about ending a marriage — and the facts:

By KEN POTTER

Myth: A wife who puts away a little nest egg can keep it all for herself in a divorce.

Fact: She can't keep it. It goes into the common pot to be divided.

Myth: A man who loses his job is no longer obligated to keep up child support payments.

Fact: A father who falls behind in child support payments, even for a good reason such as losing a job, is still obligated for the whole amount. The only way he can reduce the monthly sum is in court, by asking a judge to enter an order to modify the payments.

Myth: Divorced women supporting their children are taboo to employers.

Fact: A divorced woman with children is a highly prized candidate for a long-term management position because she has to work to provide for the family.

Myth: A woman who's getting a divorce and has plenty of her own money is not entitled to alimony.

Fact: It doesn't matter how much money she has, she can receive alimony. In a recent Florida case, a woman worth $3.5 million was ruled by a judge to be entitled to alimony from her ex-husband — who was worth $5 million.

Myth: Couples getting divorced usually have made every effort to save their marriages.

Fact: Most people who divorce never consult a marriage counselor or family therapist. And of those couples who do, half make the effort when it's already too late in the game.

Myth: Men get over a divorce sooner than women.

Fact: Studies reveal that divorced men take two years

Ex-Dynasty Star Sports Skinhead

Sporting a haircut worthy of a Marine recruit, former "Dynasty" costar James Farentino shares a chuckle at a Los Angeles eatery with girlfriend Deborah Mullowney and his son David, 13 — who looks like he just cracked a joke. Makeup men plucked and thinned Farentino's hair so he'd look older for the TV movie "Big Brother." But to get it to grow back evenly, the actor — who played Nick on "Dynasty" — had to shave his dome to the skin, and it's just starting to sprout again.

Liz Taylor's Ex-Beau Loses Libel Suit

Enquirer Told the Truth, Says Judge

A federal judge has tossed out a $4.5 million libel suit brought against The ENQUIRER by Liz Taylor's ex-boyfriend Henry Wynberg, saying our story revealing he'd used Liz for his personal gain was true.

And the judge ripped into Wynberg — citing the ex-used car salesman's long and sordid criminal record, which includes sex and drug offenses involving minors, bribery and grand theft.

"It is beyond dispute that (Wynberg's) reputation for his treatment of women and his general reputation for integrity, truth, honesty and fair dealing in personal and business matters is bad," said U.S. District Judge Albert Lee Stephens Jr. in his written decision.

The judge also pointed out that The ENQUIRER had thoroughly checked the accuracy of the story with eight independent sources before running it. And he praised the reporter who wrote it, David Burk, calling him an "esteemed journalist on the national and international news fronts."

Wynberg, who lived with Liz for 14 months, sued four months after The ENQUIRER published an article on Feb. 24, 1976, headlined:

By JOE POLICY

"Star's Angry Swiss Business Manager Reveals: Liz Taylor Spent Over $770,000 on Boyfriend Henry Wynberg." In the article, Liz' business manager, Johann Sebastian Bach, charged that Wynberg was always borrowing cash from Liz, used her money to buy things for himself — and left her with a pile of bills.

In his suit, Wynberg claimed damage to his reputation — but in fact his "reputation for taking advantage of women generally, and of Miss Taylor specifically, is undisputed," concluded Judge Stephens, of the U.S. District Court, Central District of California.

Wynberg also didn't deny he's been convicted of crimes on five separate occasions, the judge noted. In his opinion, Stephens pointed out: "On Feb. 2, 1962, he was convicted of contributing to the delinquency of minors involving sex and drugs ... on Dec. 15, 1964, he was convicted of bribery. To secure police protection for a prostitute, he offered money and the women's sexual services to the police."

"On July 25, 1977, Wynberg was again convicted of contributing to the delinquency of minors involving sex and drugs. In addition to these morals convictions for sex and drug experiences with women, on Dec. 6, 1974, Plaintiff (Wynberg) was convicted of grand theft in turning back odometers on cars which he subsequently sold at a 'low mileage' premium."

Wynberg also admitted he's had civil judgments against him for failure to pay child support, breach of contract and fraud, the judge added.

Said the judge: "Mr. Burk and his editors were reasonable in relying upon Mr. Burk's sources, and in writing and publishing the story as they did."

Reader Contest Uncovers . . .

Biggest Ears In America

Retired truck driver Lester Erickson's just won $200 in The ENQUIRER's "Biggest Ears in America" contest.

"I'm all ears," laughed the 64-year-old Erickson when he heard the good news.

Erickson, of San Lorenzo, Calif., has a set of ears that would make "Dumbo" proud — measuring a whopping 3 and 13.16 inches from the top down to the tip of the lobes. And they made him the winner over 91 entries in our contest.

People have been teasing me for years," he said. "But it doesn't bother me a bit. I know it's done in good humor. My elephant ears have never been embarrassing."

Said Erickson's wife, Joy: "His ears are so big that he looks like he's ready to take off. But he's not that bad to live with — or I wouldn't have married him 33 years ago."

"And as big as his ears are his heart is even bigger."

Added Erickson: "I've finally made my big ears pay off."

PSYCHIC'S $$ POWER

She Picks Winning Stocks Better Than Stockbrokers

In a fascinating test of her powers, psychic Beverly Jaegers chose five stocks to go up in value — and beat the selections of 18 out of 19 professional stockbrokers!

Over six months, Jaegers' five stocks rose an average of 17.2 percent, while the Dow Jones industrial average — which indicates how the market performs — actually fell 8 percent.

By PAUL BANNISTER

The only professional stockbroker to beat Jaegers did it by a slim margin — his stocks were up 17.4 percent over six months.

The next best was the stockbroker whose selections rose an average of 5.2 percent. Only one other broker picked winners — and they went up just 2 percent. All the other 16 stockbrokers' picks ended up in the red — losing between 3.1 percent and 34.1 percent.

"It was an amazing performance," said financial writer Peter Tuz of the St. Louis Business Journal, which monitored Jaegers' performance. "She sure can pick stocks. And what made her success even more impressive was that she did it at a time when the market went down and almost everybody else lost money."

The rules were simple: each of the 20 people picked five stocks last January.

The selections were monitored from Jan. 4, 1982, when the Dow Jones stood at 882.52, to June 30, when the Dow had fallen to 811.93.

AMAZING PERFORMANCE: Beverly Jaegers holds envelopes containing names of stocks to help her sense if they're right for rising.

Here are Jaegers' picks and how they fared:
Akzona Inc. up from $10.38 to $15.38.
General Instrument Corp. down from $45 to $34.88.

Metromedia Inc. up from $164 to $226.75.

Ozark Air Lines Inc. up from $9.13 to $11.25.

Pfizer Inc. up from $52.50 to $55.25.

An investment of $5,000 split evenly among Jaegers' picks in January would have been worth about $5,829 on June 30, according to Tuz.

How does she do it? "I flip through the Standard & Poor's index of companies, glancing at the pages until one name jumps out at me," she said. "I do that until I have five or six possibilities, then I put the names into separate envelopes and hold each envelope in turn."

"When there's a good stock in the envelope, there is a certain reaction in my mind. If the stock 'feels' right, I can recommend it."

Mothers

Hasten not the tender years of youth
For in the blinking of an eye your babies will be grown
Hold them tight and long
Kiss them gently and often Praise them lavishly
Encourage them always
Stand back far enough to let them grow
And close enough to protect them
Let them rise each morning to your smile
And retire each night secure in your love

Will You Give Little Marty The Loving Home He Needs?

More than 100,000 special children in America have never felt the warmth, love and security of a permanent family. Their parents gave them up for adoption. But they haven't been adopted. And it's all because they are very special.

They're children with mental, physical or emotional problems and all have one trait in common: They are still waiting for a family to call their own. Here is another touching story of a special child who needs a loving home.

Marty's big, brown eyes light up and he lets out a squeal of delight when he sees a friend. But Marty can't run over and give his friend a hug like other little boys can.

Crippled by cerebral palsy, the 8-year-old wears leg braces and can get around only with the help of a walker.

"Marty came into the world with a whole package of troubles," said Doug, his caseworker. "He is mentally retarded and suffers from cerebral palsy and curvature of the spine."

To make matters worse, the little boy has no family. His parents gave him up for adoption at birth. Since then he's been in two foster homes and for the past four years he's lived in a facility for handicapped children.

"He desperately needs a home where he can find the love that will help him reach his full potential," said Doug. "There's no question that a permanent, loving home is the best place for Marty."

Yet, despite his overbearing problems, Marty faces life with enthusiasm. "Marty is really a spunky little boy," said Doug. "He doesn't let anything get him down."

A handsome boy with beautiful eyes and thick brown hair, Marty is a delightful, happy child who loves to laugh, play and be cuddled.

"Marty's communication skills are limited. He can understand a lot, but he can't express very much. He is learning to identify words and objects and communicates now by pointing at what he wants."

"He can easily get around in his walker and he can crawl anywhere. He can dress himself with assistance. He can help feed himself. But he needs help getting in and out of bed."

The little boy is filled with love, said Doug. "He warms right up to everybody. He makes friends so very easily! Marty gets along great with other children, too. And he loves to be hugged."

Marty's one great need in life is a family of his own, Doug said. "He needs a family who will learn with him, prompting him and motivating him, a family that can commit themselves to him and give him what he needs to reach his full potential."

"In return, the family will find themselves with a delightfully warm little boy, a child with a heart full of love. Marty has been waiting for a family all his life. We just can't let him wait much longer."

ANNOUNCING . . . A Limited Edition of the Special Report on an ARTHRITIS REMEDY that is taking the Medical world by storm . . .

5 FOODS WHICH CAN ELIMINATE ARTHRITIS PAIN!

DOCUMENTED PROOF

This Special Report contains Documented Proof, says Dr. Van Fleet, that most people need never suffer Arthritis PAIN again!

Here Are Full Details About This Special Report!

Let me give you, in less than 5 minutes, 5 foods which can almost miraculously cause you to eat away your arthritic pains—

Dear Friend:

My name is James K. Van Fleet, D.C., and I want to tell you about certain natural substances that can help you get well. What are these substances? Expensive drugs with dangerous side effects that can leave you sick and broke? NO!

They are specific foods that give marvelous relief to arthritis and rheumatism sufferers!

You see, if you're suffering from arthritic or rheumatic like pains, I can sympathize with you, because I, too, suffered for a long time from the constant pain and crippling effects of rheumatoid arthritis. TODAY I'M NO LONGER MISERABLE! I know you can gain relief, too, just as my patients and I have been able to do, when you follow the simple, NATURAL method I give you in a Special Report!

If you're one of those who insist on sticking to useless medical treatments — consisting mainly of aspirin or drugs like cortisone or gold injections that can damage organs, cause internal bleeding and have other numerous side effects — I feel sorry for you.

Let me say this flatly, right here and now: There is no medical drug or chemical compound that will cure arthritis or rheumatism! So I feel sorry for drug users because I know they'll continue to suffer.

But WHY suffer, when you can join the many who report spectacular relief with my simple, NATURAL method? Those who do will enjoy freedom from pain, greater mobility, and better health. Because as far as I'm concerned, arthritis is not the incurable disease so many doctors think it is!

HOW I DISCOVERED 5 SPECIAL FOODS THAT GIVE MARVELOUS RELIEF TO ARTHRITIS AND RHEUMATISM SUFFERERS!

At the end of my first year in practice, I noticed that 85% of my patients were suffering from arthritis, rheumatism, bursitis and related disorders. I, myself, became a victim. My left shoulder was excruciatingly painful, and whenever I bent over I could hardly straighten up. My fingers were swollen, stiff and painful. Each morning I had to run hot water over them before they would function at all.

Since I am a chiropractor, my hands are my living. So I knew I had to find an answer. I soon found that standard medical textbooks had no answers for me. I then turned to the field of nutrition. Within a comparatively short time, I learned how to relieve my sore and aching joints and muscles.

What it all boils down to is 5 specific foods that have helped me and my patients — and that can also help you — gain marvelous relief from arthritis and rheumatism!

1. The first is the oil of a common nut. Not only will this oil help your rheumatism or arthritis, but it can also improve your general vitality, clear up your complexion and make your hair shine. I discovered it quite accidentally when a patient came to me troubled with impotence. I recommended this oil because it contains a sex vitamin. Not only was his impotence cured, but his arthritic shoulders were relieved. I've been using it ever since.

2. Another pleasant tasting oil you must take, with my method, is effective in relieving the symptoms of rheumatism and arthritis. You see, it helps the body absorb a certain nutrient. It is a must in my treatment.

3. This nutrient is essential to bones, for without it, bones weaken and the person winds up with osteoporosis as well as rheumatism or arthritis. That's why you often see older people hospitalized with a hip or leg fracture. This nutrient is absolutely necessary for the healing of wounds, to prevent bleeding and more. One of the first signs that you need it is the appearance of muscle cramps, often at night!

4. A common grain product which, according to recent laboratory research, contains large amounts of a powerful anti-stiffness factor. This food is also a powerful detoxifying agent. It helps provide resistance to disease, and is especially effective in arthritis, fibrositis, neuritis, and bronchitis. I first learned of its value in relieving arthritis from a patient with rheumatoid arthritis — a bad case. With this amazing substance, he was soon out of his wheelchair and completely free of pain.

5. A delicious fruit I use in all cases of arthritis, rheumatism, and gout. I first heard about this remedy from my Aunt Martha, who lives in the Ozarks. She is nearly 90 now, but still extremely active. She wrote me at once to tell me about how she cured her ailment at home, with this delicious fruit.

IS THAT ALL THERE IS TO IT?

Basically, that's it. No enemas, no harsh exercises, no bigger and better pills, no expensive diathermy, whirlpool, gadgets or hocus pocus.

MY FILES ARE FILLED WITH CASES THAT READ LIKE MIRACLES!

Now let me give you a few brief case histories so that you can see for yourself just how effective these methods are.

• Anna M. suffered from rheumatoid arthritis for more than 3 years before she came to me. She suffered day and night and was taking three aspirin every three hours. She could hardly get one foot ahead of the other to walk. Nor could she raise her arms to comb her hair. With my method, after six months, you would not recognize her. All pain was gone and she had no limitation of movement. Today, she has a large vegetable garden which she takes care of all by herself.

• Vernon R. had rheumatoid arthritis for several years. He was put on cortisone therapy by a prominent rheumatic specialist at a well-known hospital. One day, after several months of treatment, Vernon bumped his arm on a chair and broke it. When Vernon asked his doctor how this could happen, he replied, "Oh, broken bones often occur with cortisone treatment." Over his doctor's objections, Vernon stopped his cortisone therapy at once and came to me. With my method, after only 3 months, he completely forgot that he'd ever been sick. His aches and pains were gone!

• When Helga C. came to me, her knees were so stiff and sore she could hardly get in and out of a car. Her former doctor diagnosed her as having osteoarthritis. The things he told her to do—rest, use a

MEET THE AUTHOR

Dr. Van Fleet's work in arthritis and rheumatism is doubly important for he has used his methods and techniques to heal the constant pain and relieve the crippling effects of rheumatoid arthritis for himself as well as his patients.

Dr. Van Fleet's astonishing methods are now revealed for the first time in a condensed Special Report, A Doctor's Proven New Way to Conquer Rheumatism and Arthritis, for the benefit of the millions who need his help so desperately.

James K. Van Fleet received his Doctorate in Chiropractic from Logan Chiropractic College in St. Louis, Missouri. He pursued graduate studies at 2 leading professional colleges, and has done extensive work and research in the fields of nutrition and folk medicines and has specialized in clinical research in arthritis and rheumatism throughout his years of practice.

He is a charter member of the Nutrition Today Society, and a member of the National Academy of Nutritional Consultants.

heating pad, take aspirin—she'd already been doing, and she was furious. So she came to me. With my method, she improved remarkably. It has been a year now, and she has had no more trouble with her knees. She doesn't take aspirin at all any more, needs no heating pad, and says she has absolutely no pain in her knees when she scrubs her kitchen floor.

• Lucy was no longer able to use her hands. The joints of her fingers were swollen and stiff, with agonizing pain. Her former doctor gave her no hope of recovery. He recommended aspirin and said that some cortisone shots might possibly help. Maybe even some sort of operation. Then she tried my method. Within two months, the swelling in her hands was down, and there was soon no visible trace left of her arthritis.

I could go on indefinitely with case histories, but these should be enough to show the results that can be gained. I can only urge you to send for my Special Report. This Report is available in a Limited Edition only.

Henry Fonda's Heroic Last Hours

By CHARLES PARMITER

A few minutes past 8 a.m. on the morning of August 12, American screen legend Henry Fonda awoke in his hospital room, sat up in bed and said to his nurses:

"Good morning!"

Then Hank Fonda closed his eyes and died.

The news raced through Los Angeles' Cedars-Sinai Medical Center. In seconds, doctors and nurses were rushing into Fonda's room.

Emergency calls were placed to Jane and Peter Fonda and the star's wife, Shirlee — who ironically had just left for a change of clothes after spending the night at her husband's side.

"It was a sudden panic and commotion," said a hospital source. "Doctors and nurses were rushing in and out. I heard a nurse who'd been on duty in his room say, 'He woke up, sat up and suddenly collapsed.'"

"Then I heard a voice say, 'It's no good... he's gone.'"

Within 10 minutes, Jane Fonda sped up to the hospital entrance — the first family member to arrive.

"Jane jumped out of the car, looking like she'd just thrown herself together," said another hospital source. "Her hair was flying, and she had no makeup on."

"She ran into the hospital lobby, where a security guard whisked her upstairs. Jane had left her car with the engine running, and it started to roll backward down the driveway. A guard leaped in and stopped it."

Moments later, Shirlee arrived at the hospital. She rushed to Fonda's room and found Jane sobbing beside her father's body. Shirlee looked at her husband and said with vain hope, "His eyes are moving!"

Said another insider: "Despite all her wishes and hopes to the contrary, he was dead. And it was a miracle he'd survived so long."

"He had the willpower of a dozen men. Any ordinary man would have died a year ago."

Death had come to 77-year-old Henry Fonda the way he'd wanted it — swiftly and with dignity.

A close friend of the family recalled that just days before, Fonda, gasping for breath, had told Jane:

"Remember... you promised you'd allow me to die with dignity. I'm ready. I'm 77 years old and I've accomplished everything in life that I wanted."

The star angrily refused life-support systems to keep him alive, and told a close friend:

"I want to go when it's my time — and not a moment later."

Henry Fonda was pronounced dead at 8:15 a.m. The cause of death was heart failure.

Fonda entered Cedars-Sinai for the last time on August 8 and died four days later. But the star had nearly died during a 17-day stay at the hospital in July, and a staff member recalled:

"Fonda should have died back in July when he developed complications with his heart medication and root canal infections while being treated for urinary tract problems."

"He drifted in and out of coherency, was struggling to breathe and had raging temperatures. But he staged an astonishing fight, and he amazed us all by recovering enough to go home."

An actress friend who visited Fonda during that ordeal said:

"They had to pull all his teeth out. An infection was spreading because of the teeth. And his body couldn't stand any more infection."

And when Fonda returned home, he showed more incredible courage.

Said a close family friend: "Right up to a few days before he went back to the hospital for the final time, Hank was actually reading movie scripts for future projects."

"He knew that he was dying, and made no secret about it. But there was that spark of courage, that hope against hope, that if a miracle happened he wanted to be ready to go to work again."

When Fonda's condition worsened again, he resisted going back into the hospital. He told his family he wanted to die at home.

But the star finally agreed to be hospitalized when they argued he would have the best chance of living with around-the-clock medical attention.

The family agreed not to put him into an intensive care unit or hook up to life-support machines. And they promised to honor his wishes for a swift cremation — and no funeral.

On Sunday, August 8, Fonda was taken back to Cedars-Sinai. A source said: "His heart was barely beating. He was having terrible difficulty breathing. The doctors started treating his heart."

Despite his weak condition, Fonda was often able to recognize his family and talk with them.

But every night — except his last — he had trouble breathing.

On Wednesday evening, he suddenly rallied and felt better. With his wife, Shirlee, beside him on a cot, he fell asleep calmly and comfortably. In the early morning hours, Shirlee slipped out and went home for an hour to change clothes.

Shortly afterward, said a hospital source, "He woke up from an uneventful sleep, sat up in his bed and said, 'Good morning!' to his nurses. Then he closed his eyes and just died."

Sadly, there was little time to grieve over the star's body after his family arrived. Fonda had donated his eyes to the Manhattan Eye Bank for transplant, and they had to be removed quickly.

Said a hospital source: "The family were standing around the bed, crying and comforting each other. A pathologist and an orderly arrived with a wheeled stretcher. 'Very sorry, folks,' the pathologist said gently. 'We've got to remove the body now to preserve his eyes.'"

"That was the last time the family saw Henry. The body was taken to the pathology lab, where the eyes were removed.

"Then it went to the hospital crematorium."

The curtain had fallen on a great star's life. And in his final scene, Hank Fonda acted with the quiet strength and natural dignity that had touched the hearts of millions.

How Fonda Won His Lifelong Battle to Become a Loving Father

By STEVE COZ

Henry Fonda died a contented man — a man who finally broke through a lifetime of painful shyness to tell his own children that he loved them.

In amazingly candid interviews not long before the actor's death, Henry, Jane and Peter Fonda revealed how:

● Jane and Peter — after years of frustration — finally broke down their father's emotional barricades and became a real, loving family.

● Fonda found happiness with his fifth wife Shirlee — after his first four marriages failed terribly.

● The actor was so incredibly shy he actually went into acting to hide behind his onstage characters.

In a stunning admission, Fonda revealed he was on the outs with his children for years because he was a lousy father.

"I'd hate to rate myself as a parent," Fonda admitted. "I'd probably give myself a zero."

"Jane grew up not knowing that her father loved her. None of my kids did."

"I used to be away a lot on film locations, often in another part of the country for eight or 10 weeks at a time."

Peter, 42, remembered, "Dad was always off somewhere — either to war or film locations or on tour. Jane and I wanted that intimacy that Jimmy Stewart and John Wayne enjoyed with him. But our father wasn't there. We'd see him at Christmas for a day in some hotel when he wasn't working."

Even when Fonda found time to be with his children, he was often stern and silent, remembered Jane, 44.

"We'd drive somewhere and there was no conversation. When I went to see him, his opening greeting would be 'Your dog has just peed on my carpet.'"

When Jane was 12 and Peter 8, their mother, Fonda's second wife, socialite Frances Brokaw, slashed her throat. Fonda told his children she had died of a heart attack, but Jane found out the truth from a movie magazine not long after.

Yet she was emotionally so far from her father that she didn't even tell him she knew of her mother's suicide until years later.

And as Jane and Peter entered adulthood, the distance between them and Fonda grew even greater.

"What my father wanted was two nice, clean kids," said Peter, who became a wild-living maverick. "What he got for a while was Jane at the shrink and me taking acid trips."

Jane especially horrified her father by openly living with French film director Roger Vadim before marrying him, and later by her involvement in the movement to end the Vietnam war.

In his biography "FONDA My Life," Fonda recalled, "(Jane's) been front-page material for years. Lots of times I had to turn pages pretty fast... I just bit my lip and lived through it all."

Once Fonda was so disgusted he told a reporter, "I have no daughter."

As the years passed, both Jane and Peter tried to mend their rift by telling Fonda that they loved him.

But Fonda was so terribly, painfully unable to express particular scene really got to me."

Fonda had been married to five different women, and was embarrassed at the number of times he'd wed.

"I disapprove completely of people who keep getting married and divorced," he once said. "I'm not that kind of person at all — and yet I obviously am."

Fonda's first wife was actress Margaret Sullivan. "It was so short it was like a dummy run," he said. "My second marriage gave me Jane and Peter."

"The next two (to Susan Blanchard, and Italian jet-setter Afdara Franchetti) were dry runs in the sense they were mistakes — MY mistakes."

"Now at last I am happily married. And I wish I had known my wife Shirlee all my life."

Peter recalled how one time Shirlee thought that Fonda had forgotten their anniversary. "But after dinner, Dad pulled out a diamond necklace from his mouth."

Fonda, self-conscious and reticent all his life, got into acting so he could hide behind the characters.

"In the movies," he said, "I can say and do it all, and be bright and witty and articulate."

"When I'm acting, I'm that other person who isn't me at all. I'm no good on my own. I need the character in the script and that's when I know who, or what, I am."

But by the end of his life, Fonda had finally broken through his shell and fought his way close to the people who mattered most in his life — his wife and children.

"He died with his once-fragmented family at long last united," said his son's close friend, "Henry Fonda died a contented man."

Fonda later said, "That

Barnaby Jones Moves Out on Wife After 37 Years

Buddy Ebsen's 37-year marriage is falling apart — all because of his wife Nancy's bossiness and sharp tongue, insiders say.

The former star of "Barnaby Jones" and "The Beverly Hillbillies" has moved out of the couple's luxurious beachfront home into a bachelor apartment.

"It's been on and off with them for a long time and now it's reached a serious stage," confided a close friend of the couple. Nancy was an Army officer when they got married and she's never outgrown her love of ordering people around, the friend revealed.

"The main problem is Nancy's bossiness. She's so bossy and puts Buddy down so much that he's finally had his fill of it. Nancy wants to rule the roost. Her sarcasm drove him away."

What's more, Nancy would never let Buddy get a word in edgewise. An insider confided: "When Buddy's talking, Nancy runs right in and hits him with a 'No, no, no! You are absolutely wrong. That's not right. Let me tell you how it was.'"

Ebsen has been putting up with Nancy's behavior for years. But the last straw — the one thing that finally prompted him to leave her — came when he tried unsuccessfully to fulfill a longtime dream, said the friend.

Ebsen invested in and produced the musical show "Turn to the Right." It flopped to the tune of $1 million. But at the same time, Nancy produced a community play that was a big hit — and she never let Buddy forget it.

"Nancy brought it up every chance she could — how he was a colossal million-dollar failure as a producer, but she was a success," the friend recalled.

"Instead of consoling him, she lashed out at him and made things worse. The poor guy just could not take it any longer. To escape the tension at home, he started staying in his little rented cottage at Goldwyn Studios five or six nights a week."

Ebsen's break with his wife was made easier by the fact that their children are grown now and have all moved away from home, the friend pointed out. "Buddy felt there was no reason to stay home any longer and expose himself to the fights and tension. The separation became bona fide only a few weeks ago when he took a bachelor apartment in Marina Del Rey. His boat's docked there — and he says he's enjoying peace. He doesn't spend any time at home."

Faith-Healing Miracle: 'I CAN SEE!'

By RON CAYLOR

For most of her life, Mollierose Allen lived a nightmare of despair. Blind, half-deaf and diabetic since infancy, she'd attempted suicide four times by age 31.

Then, in a dramatic series of faith healing sessions, Mollierose not only regained her sight and hearing — her diabetes was cured.

But she will never forget the stunning miracle of waking up the morning after her sight was restored — and seeing her world for the first time.

"I remember rushing to the children's bedroom to see my two little daughters, examining their every precious feature. Then I flung open the door of my house and soaked up the beauty of the trees, the flowers, the sky. There's no way to describe the joy I felt when I saw all those wonderful colors."

"I was like a child with a box of paints — each shade was a marvelous discovery. All I could think was, 'I can see! I can see! Now I'll be able to care for my two little girls.'"

"I marvel at how lucky I've been. God has worked a fantastic series of miracles."

Her astounded physician, a specialist in the treatment of diabetes, said: "I'm delighted for this woman to be well — and I don't care two hoots in hell how it happened."

"There's no doubt about the fact that before she couldn't see — and now she can. And there are no symptoms of diabetes."

Mollierose, who lives in Melbourne, Australia, choked back tears as she recalled her life of misery before the miraculous faith healings at a local church.

"I was acutely depressed and desperately lonely — partly because I was divorced eight years ago. My husband couldn't handle the pressure of all my problems. 'I felt I was losing my little daughters. There was no discipline and they were starting to run wild. I ate poorly. I took pills to sleep and pills to stay awake.'"

"I just sat around, not taking proper care of myself or my home. My complexion went bad, and I had sores on my face. I tried suicide four times by not taking my insulin and lapsing into comas."

Then, in November 1980, Mollierose was persuaded by her daughters to attend a faith healing service conducted by Rev. Stephen Hollins. She recalls being skeptical.

But when Rev. Hollins placed his hands on her head, "I yelled, 'I want to see. I want to see.' I started sobbing uncontrollably. And suddenly, I felt as if I'd left face of a young, bearded man with deep, kind eyes. I speak. I just nodded and wept."

In faith healing sessions over the next two months, Mollierose also regained full hearing and her diabetes disappeared. Local social workers told The ENQUIRER that she'd been taken off government assistance as a blind person — losing a $380-a-month pension.

"But with the help of friends and relatives, we're managing," said Mollierose. "Now I see a wonderful future before me."

"I held them close. We were all weeping. One of them whispered, 'Can you really see, Mom?' I couldn't see. I heard nothing around me in that noisy hall. I saw myself walking in a field of green under a radiant blue sky."
